GROWING HOPE FOR AGREEMENT WITH ROME

ITALY WILLING TO BARGAIN?

ALOISI CONSULTS WITH MADARIAGA

Geneva, Sept. 22.

Great importance is attached here to the long conversations between Baron Aloisi and Senor de Madariaga, the Chairman of the Committee of Five of the League of Nations, which has been attempting to reach a formula for the settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

During the consultation it is understood that Baron Aloisi received a communication from the Italian Government, of which Senor Madariaga took note, and which he later circulated to his colleagues on the League Committee.

It is gathered that the Italian communication dealt with various points of the Committee's proposals, showing where these were considered inadequate and where Italy considered them objectionable.

It is understood that Italy is not in favour of Ethiopia being given access to the sea, and has certain proposals to make regarding territorial rectification and the suppression of the arms traffic in the kingdom of the Negus, whose tribesmen Italy alleges carry on this trade very extensively.

It is regarded as most significant that the Italian Government has now come into the open and will discuss the Committee of Five's plans. It is pointed out that while there is still a considerable difference between the standpoints of Italy and the Committee of Five, once it becomes a question of bargaining there is every hope that an agreement may be reached.—Reuter.

CONCILIATORY ATTITUDE

Rome, Sept. 22.
Writing in Voce d'Italia, the reliably informed Signor Gayda, adopts a conciliatory tone, pointing out that the Committee of Five's scheme does not reckon on possible provocative action on the part of the Ethiopian army, which is not like other armies. Thus, the League Committee has not considered that problem of Italian colonial security.—Reuter.

DEATH OF SIR N.E. LEWIS

LIEUT-GOVERNOR OF TASMANIA

London, Sept. 22.
A Melbourne message states that the death has occurred of the Lieutenant-Governor of Tasmania the Hon. Sir Neil Elliott Lewis, K.C.M.G.

The deceased, who was born in 1858, has been Governor of Tasmania since 1933. He was educated at Hobart and Balliol College, Oxford, and was called to the Bar at the Inner Temple in 1883, later being admitted as barrister and solicitor of the Supreme Court of Tasmania.

In 1880, he was elected a member of the House of Assembly, Tasmania, on which he served for many years. He was Premier and Attorney General from 1890 to 1903 and again held the Premiership from 1909 to 1912. He became Chancellor of the University of Tasmania in 1924, continuing in that post until 1933. Formerly an officer in the Commonwealth Military Forces, he was later placed on the retired list. He was President of the Tasmania Law Society for many years, and in 1902 was allowed to retain the title of Honourable for life.—British Wireless.

Liner's Loss
Of 362 Lives In War DramaADVENTURE OF HIGH SEAS TOLD FOR
FIRST TIME

AN adventure on the high seas in which 362 British sailors and U.S. soldiers lost their lives was disclosed last month 17 years afterwards, by one of the survivors.

The episode concerns the last voyage of the armed cruiser Otranto, and the man, who told the tale was Commander A. B. Campbell. He broadcasted in London.

On September 27, 1918, Otranto steamed out of New York leading a convoy of vessels carrying American troops to France.

Bad luck dogged the convoy. The weather was unusually bad, and the ships, crammed from stem to stern with troops, had to plough their way through mountainous seas against which they could make but little headway.

Influenza Plague

To add to the terrors of a night-mare voyage a plague of Spanish influenza broke out, and many of the troops and crew died.

It was a convoy of death, and many young American soldiers found a resting place in the Atlantic.

When the Hebrides came in sight every soul in the convoy was thinking that the next 24 hours would see the ships safely in an English port. But there was a new disaster.

Otranto, riding in big seas, came into collision with one of the troopships, S.S. Kashmir, with terrible results.

Loss Of 362

In heavy seas Otranto was dashed to pieces on the rocky coast with a loss of 362 lives.

The survivors of Otranto still talk of the extraordinary gallantry and seamanship shown by Lieutenant Craven, the commander of the destroyer Mounsey, which went to the assistance of the stricken ship and was instrumental in saving their lives.

He carried his destroyer in a terrific sea between the wreck and the shore and took off many of Otranto's men.

He said: "A big sea was running at the time. Otranto was steaming along the Irish coast when it was seen that the Kashmir was too near. Every attempt was made to avoid a collision, but the ships came rapidly together and the other boat crashed into Otranto on the port side amidships. The troops and crew showed splendid nerve."

Lifeboats Smashed

"I cannot speak too highly of the courage and the seamanship of the young officer, Lieutenant Craven. Although Captain Davidson, of Otranto, told him that it was impossible to bring his ship alongside in such a sea he insisted on doing so."

"It was not until the situation became desperate, with two lifeboats smashed, the ship settling, and the destroyer holding on to us with extreme difficulty that Lieutenant Simmons, one of the American officers, shouted, 'Every man for himself!'"

"Then every man jumped as his chance came, and in a few minutes the destroyer was crowded. A great wave washed over her and some 10 or 12 men were carried away."

"Nothing but the magnificent seamanship of Lieutenant Craven could have saved so many."

Five hundred and ninety-five men of Otranto were saved by Moun-

LOVE BETRAYS
GIRL SPYPLEA TO MAN

Brest, Sept. 10.

A BEAUTIFUL woman spy, who came to this naval port with the avowed intention of using her charms to secure secret information for a foreign Power, confessed to the police during her trial, which ended to-day, that she had been herself betrayed by love for the man she would have duped.

She had neglected her orders and "double-crossed" the country which paid her.

The central figures, in this drama of love and espionage were Lydia Oswald, a beautiful blonde, described as a German girl, and the young Count Jean de Forceville, a member of a wealthy Parisian family and an ensign in the new cruiser La Galissonniere, considered to be the last word in naval construction.

Lydia was to-day sentenced to nine months' imprisonment. She has already been seven months in gaol. The officer was acquitted.

Lydia Oswald was closely examined during the trial yesterday. She broke down in tears and said:

"I was paid money for this mission to Brest, but almost at once I fell desperately in love with this officer whom I thought to make my dupe."

"I love him so much that I was unable to carry out my mission, and I never sent the slightest information."

"He had promised to marry me, and I let him understand that our liaison was crowned by sweet and sacred hope."

During the trial she wrote to the count from her prison cell a letter in which she says: "Darling, think of our child."

"I Will Marry Her"

When Count de Forceville, who has admitted that he fell madly in love with the beautiful spy, was given the message he replied: "I will resign if necessary, but I will marry Lydia."

No incriminating documents were found in Lydia Oswald's luggage, she nevertheless was charged on her own confession

French Prison
ReformHORRORS OF DEVIL'S
ISLAND TO GO

Paris, Sept. 10.

The horrors of Devil's Island, most important of France's penal settlements, will soon become legend with the putting into effect of the French Government's projected reforms by Governor Georges Lamy, newly appointed head of the colony.

The first step that Governor Lamy intends to take in his efforts to transform French Guiana, of which Devil's Island is a part, into a prosperous and respectable colony, will be in the form of improved conditions for the liberated convicts who must spend ten years of isolation there after having served their sentences of hard labour.

At the present time it is estimated that there are about 2,000 of these liberates—as they are called—in the colony. Most of them are left to their own resources and in many cases are reduced to dire helplessness. With the stigma of crime upon them and shunned by French colonials who have interests there, they frequently attempt to escape and in most cases perish in jungle or swamp.

Hoping to eliminate this system gradually, Governor Lamy will institute in the meantime a series of measures which will help the "liberated convict" to earn a living and regain his self-respect. The reforms are being rushed to realization as quickly as conditions permit.

Salvation Army Aids

The Salvation Army already is paving the way for improvement of social conditions. It has established a fishing station near Cayenne and is organising a canning factory so that these men without a country can find employment. Colonials engaged in business there are encouraged to employ them as servants or labourers.

Authorities point out here that although Devil's Island has given its name to all the penal settlements in French Guiana, it is actually only a small part of that colony, the most important convicts camp being located on the mainland at Cayenne. Devil's Island, itself, is one of three islets known as the Iles de Salut and located 35 miles off the coast of French Guiana. The other two are called St. Joseph and Ile Royale.

Contrary to popular belief, the most desperate convicts are not kept on Devil's Island but on St. Joseph's Island. They are sent to this spot whenever they prove too unruly for the settlements on the mainland. As a rule they number from two to three hundred.

Private Servants

The Ile Royale, which has a particularly healthy climate, is used exclusively for sick prisoners. A regular sanatorium, with nurses and doctors in attendance, has been constructed here.

On Devil's Island, there are five or six exiles only. They are all reported to be state prisoners and enjoy more privilege than ordinary convicts. They are said to have private houses and servants.—United Press.

with attempted espionage, which is punishable with two years' imprisonment.

The future of the young officer, who is under open arrest, is still undecided.

At Every Dance

Since her arrival in Brest Lydia Oswald, who speaks perfect English, French, and German, and was always beautifully dressed, was the adored of every young naval officer in the town.

Much to his companions' chagrin, she selected the Count de Forceville as her favourite. She was seen in his company at every dance and fete, and at the Naval Ball at the Opera in Paris a week before her arrest, her beauty made her the most conspicuous woman in the room.

A certain quantity of opium was found at the count's flat ashore, and it is alleged that he and Lydia often smoked opium together.

Los Angeles, Sept. 22.
Senator William G. McAdoo, Democrat of California, to-day said that the Third Party in 1936 would be "quite negligible."

He further predicted the reelection of President Roosevelt "without serious opposition."

Also he said, "It would be foolish for the Republicans to make the Constitution an issue of the 1936 campaign, but naturally we will be glad to have them do so."—United Press.

MYSTERY OF LIFE

Immortality
As Goal Of
U.S. ScientistsFROZEN IN 1935:
DE-FROZEN IN
A.D. 2035!

Hollywood, Sept. 5. Blood of Jekel, a tuberculosis ridden monkey, "frozen to death" and brought to life by a young research chemist, has offered one of the most amazing possibilities in modern medicine.

Jekel's blood, tested for tuberculosis three days after he had emerged from his brief "death", showed no trace of the disease.

Dr. Ralph S. Willard, former Columbia University chemist who has experimented for five years in reviving animals after they had been scientifically "frozen to death," said he would not regard the result of his tests as final until they had been repeated two or three times.

"I used the complement fixation test to measure the presence of tubercle bacilli," he said. "The result was negative, but it is possible the freezing might have changed blood conditions slightly."

Intriguing Possibilities

Meanwhile Dr. Willard was offering intriguing possibilities of his new freezing-and-reviving process, which he expects to be "sufficiently perfected to work with human beings in two years."

These include:
Freezing felons who have committed "long term" crimes, saving society cost of upkeep during imprisonment—during which the prisoner would be packed away in a cake of ice—and possibly bringing the criminal back to life a better man for his experience.

Freezing candidates for immortality who would like to return to earth some time in the distant future to tell people how 20th century "barbarians" got along.

And—closer to reality—test for cure of tuberculosis, syphilis and cancer in human beings, through the process of freezing tissues and destroying germs or infecting elements.

The "immortality" idea was suggested by Dr. Robert Cornish, a Berkeley, California, scientist who claims a method of restoring life in animals actually killed, through injection of Herparin, a liver substance.

No Time Limit

"If my operation is perfected—and I believe within two years—with co-operation of some electrical manufacturing house, it will be ready for treatment of humans—there will be no limit to the time a person may remain 'dead'," Dr. Willard said.

"My immediate objective is to use the method to cure diseases, but there is no reason, of course, why it could not be used for other purposes—to store away prisoners, or even prevent suicide.

"If a person got sick of this life, all he would have to do is take the treatment, get himself packed in an ice-box and stay there until some future time when he might expect to find life more agreeable."

POPULAR "SILENT"
STAR TO RETURNANTONIO MORENO TO STAGE COME-BACK

After an absence of five years from the American screen, Antonio Moreno, a world-famous star in the days of silent pictures, is making a come-back in "Storm Over the Andes," Universal's story of war and aviation in South America.

Antonio Moreno was born in Madrid, but went to America in his early twenties, and joined a Massachusetts stock company, becoming a highly successful figure on the New York stage. In 1911 he made his debut under the auspices of D. W. Griffith, and subsequently took his place in the front rank of the popular leading men of his day. During his twenty-four-year career on the screen Moreno appeared in over 200 feature pictures, short subjects, and serials.

When the talkies arrived the Spanish star was hampered by his accent, and gradually faded out of the limelight. For the past five years he has confined his attention to acting and directing only Spanish pictures in Hollywood and in Mexico City, and to perfecting his English.

In "Storm over the Andes," second most important role, starring Jack Holt, Moreno has the

The giant Junkers aeroplane, chartered by the Eurasia Aviation Corporation, specially for the new Shan Chengtu route, arrived in Shanghai from Canton last week and was officially welcomed at the Lungwa Field. The picture shows the giant trimotored plane shortly after it landed at the Lungwa Field. Lower picture shows Mr. Huang Kiang-chuan, chairman of the Eurasia Aviation Corporation, who officially greeted the flyers together with Miss Hai Yung-chi, who presented them bouquets of flowers, together with the German members of the crew of the plane.

NEW GERMAN
"I BELIEVE"

Berlin, Sept. 10. A creed, entitled "I Believe," is published in the Nazi journal, the Schwarze Korps.
It runs:
I believe in the German mother
By whom I was born.
I believe in the German peasant
Who breaks the soil for his nation.
I believe in the German worker
Who accomplishes work for his nation.
I believe in the dead
Who gave their life for their nation.
For my God is my nation
I believe in Germany.

BEAUTY TURNS
DOWN HOLLYWOODGIRL WHO DOES NOT CARE FOR FILMS!

Hollywood, Sept. 1. Hollywood has been shocked—so badly that it has not yet got over it.

Miss Kathryn Batson is the culprit. Having won a beauty contest in Kentucky, she was awarded a trip to Hollywood.

Now, as all American beauty queens go to Hollywood sooner or later, Hollywood is used to them and has no great opinion of them. But Miss Batson was different.

She was so attractive that studios at once offered her screen tests, and when these proved that she had the makings of a star, they offered her a fat contract.

Then came the shock. "I won't sign," she said. "I don't think I care for films as a career. I'm going back home to Kentucky."

GIRL MISSIONARY WILL
DEFY WAR PERIL

Liverpool, Sept. 10. A twenty-four-year-old Liverpool girl missionary will shortly be the only Englishwoman left in Abyssinia.

Regardless of all the preparations for war, and despite the instructions of the British delegation for the evacuation of women and children from the country, Miss Doris Benson is carrying on her work for the Bible Churchmen's Missionary Society at her school at Asba Tafari, in the wild Chercher Province of Abyssinia.

Miss Benson is the sister of Mrs. Benson, wife of the Rev. R. J. Benson, vicar of St. Nathaniel's, Upper Parliament-street, Liverpool.

She has been in the mission field for about twelve months, teaching the Christian faith to the Somalis, Arabs and Gallas.

As Lay DyingCABLES DIRECTOR
ACCIDENT

WHILE Sir Basil Blackett, Bank of England director, lay dying a fortnight ago in a Marburg (German Rhineland) hospital, victim of a crash between his car and a train at a level crossing, he was elected to a new City directorship by his financial colleagues at home.

Sir Basil was a director of Cable and Wireless, Ltd. On the day of his accident he was elected a director of a new subsidiary company—Cable Investment Trust Company.

Frau Eistentraeger, sixty-year-old German school teacher at Marburg, who was riding with Sir Basil at the time of the crash, was critically ill last night as the result of her injuries.

Sir Basil, who was on holiday in Germany, went out for a drive with Frau Eistentraeger. He was at the wheel.

As the main road between Giessen and Lollar, which lay on his route, was closed for repairs he took a field track running beside the railway.

Between the station of Alendorf and Treis this road crosses the railway track at a level crossing, although he saw that a train was approaching.

He misjudged the distance, and the train crashed into the back of the car, completely wrecking it.

Japanese Empress
Puts on the Girdle

Tokyo, Sept. 5. Empress Nagako, who is staying at Hayama with Emperor Hirohito, has donned the ancient girdle which, by court tradition, must be worn by the sovereign's wife when the birth of a royal child is impending. One hundred midwives, representing the Japanese Midwives' Association, to-day prayed at Meiji Shrine that Her Majesty might have a fortunate delivery. The birth is expected in December.

Giant Liner To
IN NORMANDIE

The £12,000,000 Normandie—the world's biggest and fastest liner—is the centre of conflicting rumours.

In shipping circles it is being stated that drastic reconstruction will be necessary when the ship is laid up at Le Havre later this year.

Critics allege that owing to the immense power developed by the vessel's giant engines, there is considerable vibration, and that this has caused other "These rumours are absolutely defects to develop."

untrue," an official in the London office of Compagnie Generale Transatlantique said. "She is fully booked up for her next trips across the Atlantic in both directions."

Plans For Atlantic
Air LinesRIVALRY OF TWO CITIES BEGINS

ONE of Britain's most famous shipyards is to be devoted to building the biggest flying boats in the world for a regular Transatlantic service.

Messrs. Workman, Clark (1928), Ltd., the former Belfast shipbuilders who recently undertook to go out of this business, plan to build Sikorskys.

These are the giant flying boats to be used in the California to China service later this year. This service covers a route of 8,700 miles.

The Workman, Clark plan follows negotiations with the British Aircraft Manufacturing Company, who, it was announced recently, had secured the British Empire rights for the manufacture and sale of these machines from the American owners.

Lough And River

Lord Willoughby de Broke, chairman of British Aircraft Manufacturing Company, said then that an official announcement would not be made for some time. Confirmation of the deal, however, was made by Messrs. Workman, Clark.

This development means that Belfast Lough and the Mersey will once more enter into direct competition for the dominating position in the Atlantic services of the future.

Recently it was announced that the American Bellanca Aircraft Corporation are to build seaplanes at Liverpool and inaugurate a service from the Mersey to the United States via the Azores and Bermuda.

It is understood that the Belfast plan is for a regular direct passenger service across the North Atlantic between Belfast Lough and New York.

The Sikorsky flying boat was the type which recently flew "blind" half-way across the Pacific.

Divorce
Challenge
To The Church

A WOMAN, who recently divorced her husband, is to fight the Church of England, because a clergyman refused to remarry her.

She has started a legal action. The woman could have been re-married at a register office, but wanted a religious ceremony.

She holds that a clergyman of the Church of England is bound by law to remarry her. She appealed to the bishop of the diocese, who supported the clergyman's refusal.

The remarriage of divorced people has been prohibited by some bishops, but some clergymen will remarry the "innocent" party to a divorce suit.

"This case, if it comes to trial, may clear up this position," a well-known ecclesiastical lawyer said. "At present it seems that the Church forbids what the State authorises."

INN WHERE KING
CHARLES II SLEPTPILORY TO BECOME A CAR PARK

The King's Head, a lovely 15th century inn in Rochester High-street, has been saved from demolition to make way for new buildings.

It is to be largely modernised inside, but all its most picturesque features are to be retained.

Charles II, once stayed at the King's Head; Dickens wrote about it, making it the "Great Winesbury Arms" in "Sketches by Boz," his earliest work.

There has been an inn on this spot since 1490. Behind it, now enclosed in the gardens, is the scene of the old Rochester market where the pillory and the stocks stood. This spot will now become a car park and garage.

From the outside the inn shows deplorable evidence of past attempts made to modernise it. But enter the spacious hall and you are at once transferred into an atmosphere belonging to the days of the coach and the post chaise.

FLIGHT TO CAPE

CAMPBELL BLACK STARTS ON RECORD ATTEMPT

London, Sept. 22. T. Campbell Black, the famous aviator, accompanied by a co-pilot and wireless operator named J. H. McArthur, took off from Hatfield at 4.11 p.m. to-day to attempt a record flight to Cape Town and back. He is flying a De Havilland Comet "Boomerang" which has a cruising speed of 220 miles an hour and a maximum speed of 250 miles an hour. It carries 250 gallons of petrol.

Black proposes to reach his destination in a distance of 2,210 miles in three stages, Cairo, Kisumu and Cape Town. He will fly directly across the Alps and hopes to reach Cairo early tomorrow morning.—Reuter.

Reaches Cairo

Cairo, Sept. 22. Campbell Black landed at Almazra Aerodrome at 3.20 a.m. Greenwich Mean Time.—Reuter.

Earlier Attempt

It will be recalled the Campbell Black set out on a record breaking flight to the Cape last month but was forced to return to England after reaching Cairo on account of engine trouble.

Solo Flight

London, Sept. 22. A Trans-Atlantic solo flight has been accomplished by the American aviator, Felix Waitek, who left Floyd-Bennett Field, Long Island at 6.45 a.m. local time, yesterday (Saturday) morning with the object of reaching Lithuania, non-stop.

After a frightful journey of twenty-two hours, Waitek descended at Ballinrobe, Ireland, where he struck a tree and damaged the machine.

Waitek himself was unhurt.—Reuter.

A United Press message adds that it was at 10 a.m. that Waitek crashed in a field at Ballinrobe, County Mayo, the plane striking a tree owing to a very dense fog in which he was searching round for the Ballinrobe aerodrome.

Lands in Ireland

New York, Sept. 21. Pilot Felix Waitek, of the U.S. Army Reserve, took off at 7.45 p.m. to-day in an attempt to make a non-stop flight to Kaunas, Lithuania.

He is flying a Lockheed machine which is capable of doing 171

GERMAN CRUISERS TO MAKE TOUR OF WORLD

Three German cruisers, one of which is the Karlsruhe, will leave Kiel on October 21 on a tour of the world. Pilot Waitek is taking memorials to place on the graves of the Lithuanian flyers, Darius and Gieras, who crashed flying the Atlantic some time ago.

A message from St. Johns, Newfoundland, states that a plane, believed to be that flown by Waitek, flew over Belle Island at 5.15 Newfoundland daylight time.—United Press.

Balloon Fired At

Warsaw, Sept. 21. It is revealed that Russian aeroplanes fired on the Polish balloon "Polonia" one of the Bennett Race entrants, when it was over Leningrad.

An international incident was only averted when the Soviet Ambassador explained that the machines had merely fired blank cartridges, using the balloon as a target.—United Press.

Missing Fliers Found

Amsterdam, Sept. 21. The Dutch aeroplane, reported missing in India, has been found fifteen miles south of Bussina in Burma. The occupants were injured.

The plane was one of three British-built Dutch planes flying to New Guinea for survey work.—Reuter Special.

The expedition left Holland for an aerial exploration of 2,000 square miles of the western section of New Guinea.

This Dutch possession, ten times the size of Holland, is largely unexplored. The area it is hoped to chart is a third of the country.

The expedition, which will be away 18 months, consists of 25 Europeans and as many natives. It is led by Capt. R. N. de Ruyter van Steveninck, an Army pilot, and is being sent by the Netherlands New Guinea Petroleum Company, owned by Dutch, British and American interests.

Earl J. Lemcke and Eugene Brinson, two American citizens arrested in Hankow on a charge of plotting to liberate Joseph Walden, alias Mr. X, who was convicted some time ago on a charge of espionage, were brought to Shanghai recently by United States Marshal, Edward L. Faupel. Brinson was released immediately upon arrival, a bond for U. S. $2,500 having been posted for him, while Lemcke was taken to the Amoy Road Gaol. THE DOUBLE TENTH

CELEBRATION IN CANTON DESPITE OPPOSITION

Canton, Sept. 22. While the demand for cancellation of the big scale celebration of the coming National Day was strongly voiced by certain Generals at a meeting of the Political Research Institute on Friday last, latest reports from official circles indicate that the demand may not be approved by the Provincial Government, though the celebration may be modified, especially regarding compulsory subscriptions by big firms.

Meanwhile it is learned that the Celebration Committee have proceeded with their preparations at full swing. So far twenty-five public bodies have offered their support to the Committee.—Wah Kiu Yat Po.

Canton, Sept. 22. Jubilee celebrations in Hongkong are being copied here for the Double-Tenth Commemoration.

The Chamber of Commerce to-day announced that there will be a long procession in which a silver and a golden dragon will take part. There will be also a dragon boat race at night on the Pearl River. The object is to draw visitors from Hongkong, Macao and

FILMS ON WARSHIPS

ADMIRALTY ANNOUNCES NEW SCHEME

London, Sept. 22. Sailors aboard His Majesty's warships will be able to see their favourite film stars aboard ship in the near future as the result of a new scheme announced in Admiralty Orders on Friday night.

A cinema fund will be set up for the purpose of co-ordinating distribution and supply of films and equipment to warships. The charges for the service will be on a per capita basis so that large and small ships can participate in the scheme.—Reuter Special.

Other nearby places.

An official of the Chamber pointed out that such celebrations are all the more necessary during the present trade lull, as people in the interior will come and spend money. Depression is no objection to this celebration, he added, as business inactivity is due to poor circulation of wealth and hoarding.

Sponsors of this affair declare that the national crisis has passed in view of the talk in North China of Sino-Japanese co-operation.—Special.

WOMAN MOTORIST

FINED FOR FAILING TO RENEW HER LICENCE

A Chinese woman motorist, Mrs. K. Koo, of No. 4 Somerset Road, Kowloon Tong, was fined $7 by Mr. Thomson at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday when she appeared before him to answer a summons for driving private car No. 8290 without a valid driver's licence, on August 28.

In answer to the summons defendant stated that on the day in question she had just returned from Canton and did not have her licence with her, but she took it to the police station the next day and showed it to the sergeant.

Traffic-Sergeant Scott, who appeared for the prosecution, explained to his Worship that defendant did take her licence to the police station, but it was found that it had not been renewed.

The Magistrate to defendant: I have had to adjourn the case twice. Can you tell me why you did not appear when you were warned?—I did not receive the summons.

The Court Sergeant explained to the Magistrate that defendant had removed from her address and the first summons was not served. The Magistrate: It seems that you have committed another breach of the Traffic Regulations by removing without reporting your change of address to the police.

Defendant: I did not know. The Magistrate: You are a motorist; you ought to know.

BEATEN WITH STICKS

MAN RESENTS ATTENTIONS SHOWN TO SISTER

Showing his resentment at the attention paid by the complainant to his sister and other women, Lam Li-lam, aged 35, earth cooler, with the aid of two other men gave another earth cooler, Fong Tin, a nasty beating with sticks at Kowloon City last Wednesday night.

The sequel to the incident was the appearance of Lam before Mr. Thomson at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday, on a charge of occasioning bodily harm to Fong Tin. Defendant was remanded to September 25.

Inspector W. R. Chester-Woods for the prosecution stated that complainant had been paying attention to defendant's sister and other women. Defendant resented this and on the night of the 18th, he went with two other men and called complainant out and took him to a dark place where they "beat him up" with sticks. The other men have not been arrested.

The prosecution informed the Magistrate that the man was in hospital and his condition could not be ascertained until he undergoes an X-ray examination.

COAL INDUSTRY PROBLEMS

The future of the British coal-mining industry is again coming up for discussion, partly by reason of demands which are being made on behalf of the miners for a higher standard of wage. It has been stated, on behalf of the coalowners, that they cannot afford to pay better wages, because there is insufficient money in the industry to enable them to do so. As against this, it is contended that one remedy is to be found in reorganisation of the industry
on a unified basis. In particular, the claim is put forward
that the owners have failed completely to organise the selling side of their industry. This failure is said to be reflected in the pit-head level of the proceeds received for coal, which show that much money has been frittered away in senseless competition between the owners themselves. Regarding the work of the miners and the wages they are paid, figures have been issued showing that in 1920 the average output of coal per manshift was 14.54
cwt., whereas last year it was 22.94 cwt., but the average earnings per annum per person were £223 in 1920 and only £115 11s. 6d. in 1934. Miners earn, on an average, according to a statement made recently in Parliament by the Secretary for Mines, 44s. 6d. per week. But there are thousands of men in the pits to-day who receive much less than the average—men who receive only 30s. to 40s. for a full week's work. As has been proved during recent mine disasters, the miners are exposed to sudden and overwhelming disaster every moment
of their working day. Official figures show that no fewer than 1,073 miners were killed in and about the coalfields last year,
and 132,869 injured. Actually,
the number of accidents in the coal-mining industry is six times the number occurring in industrial life in factories and workshops. In the meantime, not only is money being sacrificed in competition between the colliery owners, but by the large numbers of middle-men who stand between the miner and the consumer. To-day, there are no fewer than 27,000 such middle-men engaged in the mining industry. As to the remedy for the present unsatisfactory position, it is argued

NOTES OF THE DAY

WITH OR WITHOUT GENEVA

The rejection by Italy of the League of Nations' proposals for settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian crisis brings us face to face with that dangerous situation towards which we have all looked with apprehension since the Italian Dictator, Benito Mussolini, said so definitely that the East African problem could only be solved by victory for Italy's diplomats or by recourse to war. Writing in Popolo d'Italia that aquar-jawed leader of the Fascist imperialists declared some time ago that a solution satisfactory to Italy would be compelled "with Geneva, without Geneva or in spite of Geneva." And at this time, when Italy has rebuffed the League Committee of Five, has refused to accept the terms, generous terms, offered by Geneva, we must recall with anxiety the Duce's ringing words. With, without or against Geneva, Italy will follow the path of destiny where her Dictator leads. We now await the League of Nations' answer, or the reply to this challenge from those who are loyal to the principles represented by the League Covenant. We wonder whether it will not be: "With Italy, without Italy, or in spite of Italy, we shall defend the sovereignty of the small nations, our honour and the peace of the world."

WAITING FOR THE VOICE

Up to this time there has been no rallying cry sounded from the League's capital. There has been no clarion-throated call from a leader brave enough, wise enough
and strong enough to muster the forces of peace in such imposing array that any nation, or group of nations, would draw back from contemplated violence as from horrible
and certain death. There can be no doubt that the great mass of mankind fears and hates war; though
the average man may become intoxicated with splendid visions of victory, glory and the thrill of conquest. It is such inspired thoughts
as these which foster nationalism,
and national ambitions, and endanger the peace of the world.
Unfortunately we have not pursued beyond that "national"
state of mind, which still insists upon frontiers and tariffs, and there is little likelihood of anyone appearing who could weld national loyalties and international hatreds into one tempered whole which would outlast the symbols of militant minorities and outlive the lusts of man. We are therefore lost back upon the device by which we have preserved our freedom and an empire: loyalty to and love of the Crown, and the high principles
and traditions which it represents.
We may expect a rallying call from that quarter; and if there comes a time when the Empire's strength is needed, we shall welcome that call and respond with a clear hope that in serving our own flag we serve all humanity.

POWER FOR GOOD

We believe that the British Empire is a power for good, and that our race, once mightiest in war, is the foremost champion of peace to-day. We believe that the commonwealth of nations owning allegiance to His Majesty is an example of what can be done by able-minded men in bringing nations, and races, into harmonious partnership. We believe that the British Empire has a splendid purpose to fulfil, and that the greatest day of its destiny may be at hand.
And we remember Sir William
Watson's lines:

"She stands, a thousand-
wintered tree,
By countless morns imperiled;
Her broad roots coil beneath
the sea,
Her branches sweep the world:
Her seeds, by careless winds
conveyed,
Clothe the remotest strand
With forests from her sentencing made.
New nations fostered in her shade,
And linking land with land.
'O ye by wandering tempest
sown,
'Neath every alien star,
Forget not whence the breath
was blown
That wafted you afar.
For you are still her ancient seed
On younger soil let fall—
Children of Britain's island
breed,
On whom the Mother in her need Perchance may one day call."

that if the owners are required
by Government to pay higher wages, they will be induced to reorganise the industry to the benefit of all concerned in it.
Better wages are considered to be the key to efficiency and to happiness in the coalfields.

ladies who sat there on the after-

They were a little hot, a little weary in their thick Victorian clothes. Nightingale is no more frivolously even for the Principal of St. Hugh's College, Oxford, and the Head of a respected girls'
school. So for a little while Miss Moberly and Miss Jourdain sat on there by the windows, letting the breeze dance lightly round them.

But Baedeker lay open in front
of them, and for the earnest traveller, they must have thought,
Baedeker exists to be used.

So after a glance at the map
they set off for the Petit Trianon,
a farmhouse in the ground of Versailles where Marie Antoinette had amused herself before the Revolution.

They enjoyed that walk through the stiff breeze, with its scent of a hundred different flowers. "The woods were looking their best,"
Miss Moberly wrote afterwards,
"and we both felt particularly vigorous."

But their enjoyment was not to last long.

Nearing the Petit Trianon they went down a lane which they thought was the entrance. "I was surprised that Miss Jourdain did not ask the way from a woman who was shaking a white cloth out of the corner of a building at the corner of the lane," wrote Miss Moberly, "but followed, supposing that she knew where she was going to."

Miss Jourdain, however, had not asked the way for the good reason that she had seen no one at all.
They came to two very dignified officials where the path divided.
The officials wore greyish-green coats with small three-cornered hats. They directed them rather frigidly to go straight on.

But now they felt as though a mysterious change had come over everything. The breeze, they realised, had suddenly given way to a dead calm—"even the trees behind the building seemed to have become flat and lifeless, like a wood worked in tapestry." They walked on together through the intense silence, each wishing to hide from the other her own feeling of gloom.

Then, with an unaccountable shiver of disgust, they saw that a cloaked man sitting by a knee was staring at them. He wore eighteenth-century clothes and his face was pitted as though with smallpox. Miss Moberly said quickly: "Which is our way?"
but thought: "Nothing will induce me to go to the left."

They were both relieved, though
a little astonished, when a red-faced gentleman in a large sombrero hat ran up to them, from nowhere shouting that they must go to the right. "Mesdames, Mesdames, il ne faut pas passer par la Par ici, c'est par chez la maison." He vanished as queerly as he had come, and they continued on their path.

"Silently we passed over the small rustic bridge which crossed
a tiny ravine. So close to us when on the bridge that we could have reached it with our right hands, a thread-like cascade fell from a height down a green pretty bank, where ferns grew between stones."

They discovered afterwards
that no water could have flowed

there for about a hundred years,
but they did not know that as they walked on towards the farmhouse. Nor, when they came to a terrace in front of the house,
did Miss Moberly realise that her friend was unable to see a lady sitting there. "I remember drawing my skirt away with a feeling
as though someone were near and I had to make room, and then wondering why I did it," wrote Miss Jourdain.

But Miss Moberly could see quite distinctly a woman, whom she afterwards discovered to be a remarkable resemblance to Marie Antoinette, "holding out a paper as though to look at it at arm's length. I supposed her to be sketching and to have brought her own camp-stool."

"She saw us, and when we passed close by on her left hand, she turned and looked full at us. It was not a young face, and (though rather pretty) it did not attract me. . . . I looked straight at her;
but some indescribable feeling made me turn away, annoyed at her being there."

More depressed than ever, they walked up a flight of steps to the terrace. Then the door of a chapel was swung open and a youth "with the jaunty manner of a footman" called out that they should have gone round another way. The door slammed behind him, and seeing them hesitate uncertainly as though they looked eccentric in the extreme.

That door, it has been proved,
has been impossible to open since 1789, and for 50 years at least the shrine leading to it has been completely broken down.

Outside they were suddenly in the breeze again. It seemed to clear their heads, blowing off the veils of depression which had fallen so thickly on them.

But as they sipped their cups
of English tea in the Hotel des Reservoirs back at Versailles, they did not talk much. It had occurred to neither of them as yet that they had just crossed
a non-existent bridge above an equally non-existent stream, that they had talked to people who had been in their graves a hundred years, and had been examined
from the terrace by the cold eyes
of Marie Antoinette.

Three months later when they were staying together in England
Miss Moberly happened to make some remark about that lady who had seemed to be sketching, and
to her amazement her friend declared that she had seen her at all.
After writing down independent statements of what they had seen
and left, they discovered that,
while there were gaps in the experience of one, which were covered by the other's, the main events of the afternoon had been seen
and heard by both of them.

Not long afterwards Miss Jour-
dain returned to the Petit Trianon and found that it was a totally different place, with different people dressed in different clothes.

She relates this incident in which we seem to see the very process by which a hundred years, separating two worlds, were fused
into a moment.

"As I passed the logement, suddenly and utterly unexpectedly I knew that some indefinable change had taken place. I felt as though
I were being taken up into an-

Old Pete is back in Hongkong again. We thought we had got rid of Pete when he went to America to run a newspaper of his own. But we hadn't. He's back again with twice as many ideas as he had before.
"How come?" we asked him.
"Thought you were going to be a publisher."

Joe shook his head.
"It was a fine little Country, and a fine little town and a coming sheet, but we didn't seem to be able to build up the circulation. One day the advertising manager rushed into my office and pointed through the window into the street."

"Look," he said, pointing with a shaking finger.
"A funeral was passing the office—one hearse and a lone mourner in a private car."

"Who is it?" I inquired.
"My God, Pete!" said the adman. "That's our subscriber!"
"So I sold out and came back to Hongkong. I couldn't see a future to the business."

Silver Song

Sing a song of silver,
Sing it with a sigh,
With a tragic tear-drop Welling from each eye—
Silly little dollars,
Let your voices cry:
But for Roosevelt's policy
You wouldn't be so high!

Sing a song of dollars,
Sing with hearts a-bill,
Dollars you had need of,
Fruits of steady toil:
Brightly shining dollars—
Croak it with a frown,
Worth so much in other days,
Now all whittled down.

Sing about the black birds Flying ever high,
Black Ice House Street ravens
Circling in the sky—
Silly, reckless black birds,
Speculators all,
Flying in a storm's face,
To a certain fall!

Sing a song of income,
Salary and wage—
Dare to be a Daniel,
Raise the howl of rage—
Living on an income
That we never see—
What's the use of stinging,
While such worms are wet?

Latest Jew Joke

A Highlander was involved in a collision with a Jew. The Highlander and his car suffered little.
The Jew and his car were more seriously damaged.

The Jew, thinking of insurance, complained of a pain in his back.
The Highlander produced a bottle with some whisky. He gave it to the Jew, and then threw away the bottle and the glass.

A crowd gathered amongst whom was a policeman.
"Is this your car?" he asked the Highlander.
"Yes," said the Gael.
"Then how did this happen?"
"Don't ask me," said the Highlander, turning away; "smell his breath!"

MANILA-NAIROBI FLIGHT

AIR ADVENTURE DELAYED

(Special to "Telegraph")

Manila, Sept. 23. Mechanical difficulties have led Mr. Philip Whitmarsh to call off his projected flight from Manila to Nairobi, at least temporarily. The take-off was to have been made September 15.

It was disclosed that a reconditioned motor in the Lockheed-Vega plane, purchased for the flight, was unsatisfactory.

Pilot Dick Rinaldi, who came from the United States to fly Mr. and Mrs. Whitmarsh to Nairobi, Kenya Colony, tested the craft shortly after it had been assembled. He was unable to make a forced landing in Pampanga Province, however, while on a short 200-mile test flight between Manila and Baguio.

Returning to Manila, Rinaldi expressed conviction that the motor would not prove satisfactory.

As a result Whitmarsh and Rinaldi plan to leave shortly for the United States where they will make contact with manufacturers to secure a new type of motor.

The radioman, Ben Stone, of Brooklyn, who originally planned to be a member of the expedition, left for East Africa on the a.s. Postdam. He planned to offer his services to Emperor Haile Selassie as a communications expert.—United Press.

BRITAIN WILL NOT ACT ALONE

been featuring the issue as an "Italo-British issue."

He continues that it is "important that the British Government policy should not be misunderstood. It is a League of Nations policy, in which the cardinal principle is that of collective responsibility. The British Government is not competent, and has no desire or intention, to take any action whatsoever except as a member of the League."

"British action, therefore, is entirely dependent upon the League decision, equally committing France, Russia and all smaller powers to like action," he says.

The same point is made by "Scrutator" in an article in the Sunday Times on the theory of sanctions. He writes:

"Signor Mussolini persistently speaks and acts as though the issue at Geneva lay between England and Italy. Under the Covenant there not only is, but can be, no dispute between Italy and this or any other country as an intervening party. We would not act alone under the Covenant and could not legally do so, even if we would, for the offence which Signor Mussolini threatens is not against any intervener but against the League."

"Neither we nor any other member of the League has any legal power to proceed to sanctions except in the execution of the League's unanimous will, and common prudence dictates that will must be unanimous, not only in word but in deed, and if necessary in common sacrifice."—British Wire-Press.

CONFIDENCE REGAINED

CANTON'S BANKING POSITION

Canton, Sept. 22. Since co-operation between the Provincial Bank of Kwangtung and Canton Municipal Bank has been effected, the financial condition of the city has become more stable, it was learned to-day.

According to a spokesman of the Municipal Bank notes of these two banks are now accepted everywhere in the city without being subject to discount. As a result of co-operation, the public is regaining confidence in these banks, and depositors have recently increased by hundreds.

The financial condition of these banks, according to the same official, is far better than before.

SCOUT JUBILEE

ST. ANDREW'S TROOP CELEBRATION

On Saturday afternoon, in the grounds of St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, the troop of Scouts attached to the church celebrated their Silver Jubilee with a miniature Jamboree, followed by a tea for their numerous friends and guests.

Sir James and Lady Pollock, Mr. C. Chen, the Acting Commissioner for Scouts in the Colony, the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall were among the many well-wishers of the troop who watched the display with keen appreciation.

His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government, the Hon. Mr. N. L. Smith, sent a note regretting that he would be unable to attend, as did also Sir William Horrell, the Police Judge, Mr. R. E. Lindell, and the Bishop of Victoria, the Rev. R. O. Hall. All joined, however, in congratulating the Troop on its 25th birthday, and wishing it all prosperity.

At three o'clock, the Scouts and Cubs assembled on the tennis lawn, where Troop Leader F. Wynyard broke the flag. This ceremony done, the Cubs gathered in the centre and gave their Grand Hurl in the very best Council Rock style. After this, the Colour Parties marched off, and the Cubs performed their Jungle Dance, which were explained through an amplifier by Miss L. L. Woolley, the Assistant Lady Cubmaster, better known as "Baloo".

A group of Scouts next began the difficult task of erecting a signalling tower, which did the job both quickly and well. Simultaneously, another group was building a monkey-bridge. When the tower was completed two Scouts climbed to the top and demonstrated its usefulness by signalling to another couple perched on the roof of the Viceroy.

A demonstration of life-saving and first aid was then given by the Scouts and this was followed by a portrayal by the Cubs of an adaptation of scenes of Rudyard Kipling's jungle stories.

Mr. R. Wong, the Assistant Scoutmaster, gave an interesting running commentary to an item entitled "A Cavalcade of Cubbing and Scouting," which explains itself.

An excellent tea was served and when this was concluded the presentation of badges was carried out by Lady Pollock.

King's Scout Badge

Patrol Leader L. Millington distinguished himself by obtaining the King's Scout Badge, the First Class Badge, the Green Cord (given for the First Class and six proficiency badges), and the Cub-Instructor's Badge.

J. Hool received the Ambulance and the Pioneer Badge together with his First Class.

Mr. J. B. Millington was awarded his Rescuer's Badge, and with P. L. Gibson, H. and W. Hicks, the First Class Badge. C. Large was given the Cub-Instructor's Badge.

When the presentation was over the Rev. J. B. Higgins, Vicar of St. Andrew's, traced the history of the Troop since its inception in 1910. He went on to say how deeply gratified the local founders of the movement would be if they could realise the roots it had taken in the Colony, and how it had grown during the past 25 years.

He thanked all those who had attended, those who had borne the burden of the work in making the function such a success, and the Scouts themselves. He added a reminder, however, that the real celebration would take place on Sunday, when a "Thanksgiving Service" was to be held in St. Andrew's Church.

An inspection of the Scouts' handicraft work was next held, and a successful afternoon was brought to a close with camp-fire singing.

Special Service

Yesterday morning, at 11 o'clock, a Service of Thanksgiving was held in St. Andrew's Church to commemorate the beginning of the Scout, Guide, and Brownie movement in the Colony, twenty-five years ago.

Besides the St. Andrew's Troop, representatives of the 4th. Kowloon (Murray) Troop, the 4th. Kowloon (Garrison) Troop, the Lower Seavoy's, and the 4th. Kowloon (Garrison) Wolf Cub Pack were among the large congregation. The Vicar, the Rev. J. B. Higgins, officiated at the service, which, for the first time in the history of the Church, was broadcasted.

The service opened with the hymn, "All people that on earth do dwell," and while it was being sung, the Colours of the St. Andrew's Troop and Pack were placed in the Sanctuary. The special feature was the reading of the 1st and 2nd of the Lesson was taken from Isaiah 55, 6-13 and Ephesians 6, 10-17. These were followed by the Te Deum, The Creed and Responses, and Collects.

The hymn, "Father, who hast made us brothers," was sung by the congregation, and then the Bidding was given by the Vicar.

Then came General Thanksgiving and prayers, followed by the Grace, and the hymn, "Father, hear the prayer we offer," after which the Vicar gave the Address.

Sermon to Scouts

Rev. J. B. Higgins said: This sermon is, both for our own Church of St. Andrew's and for the Scout, Guide, and Brownie movements in the Colony, one of outstanding importance. Here in these grounds in the summer of 1910, in the presence of His Excellency Sir Henry May and His Excellency Colonel St. John, the Officer Commanding the Troops in South China, a previous Vicar of this church, the Rev. H. O. Spink, formed the first Scout Troop in the Colony. These celebrations are not only to commemorate the beginning of the St. Andrew's Troop but the beginning of all the Scout and Guide work in the Colony, of which St. Andrew's was the pioneer. Yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large and distinguished gathering our boys gave us a miniature Jamboree, but this service this morning is the central thing about these celebrations for we are now giving thanks to Almighty God that 25 years ago through the instrumentality of a Christian minister, the Boy Scout movement found foot in this Colony only two years after it had been started in England.

For a quarter of a century (except for the period of the War) the Scout movement has been doing its splendid work amongst the boys of Hongkong and its influence for good in the life of the community is inestimable. This service then, we think, will be long remembered, not only by those here in Church this morning, but by those listening-in, as an expression of our thanks to God for a movement which has had such striking success in this Colony and which we feel sure will have still greater success in the future as the public gets to understand the ideals for which it stands.

The preacher then went on to speak of the ideals of peace, and their application to the Scout, after the sermon, the hymn "Praise, my soul, the King of Heaven," was sung, and followed by God Save the King. The service concluded with the Blessing.

Outside the Church the Vicar made a short inspection of the Scouts of all the visiting Troops, after which they filed off with their colours.

LOCAL DOLLAR DECLINES

EFFECT OF BETTER WAR NEWS

The Hongkong dollar declined a further this morning, due to the better news from Europe, the official rate being 2s. 0½d. The market was easy on opening, interbank rates being 2s. 0½d. Sellers and 2s. 0½d. buyers. There was very little business reported, the market being very quiet.

In London, silver dropped 1/10th spot and 1/8th forward on Saturday. America bought, India operated both ways, while speculators sold, the market being quiet.

The Empress of Canada left Yokohama at 6 p.m. on Saturday, and is due in Hongkong at 7 a.m. on Friday next.

C.Q.M.S. Mound, R.A.S.C., was presented with a medal for long service and good conduct by Brigadier Seth Smith at Army Headquarters this morning.

GERMAN SOCCER VISIT

TEAM TO PLAY IN ENGLAND

FIRST TIME

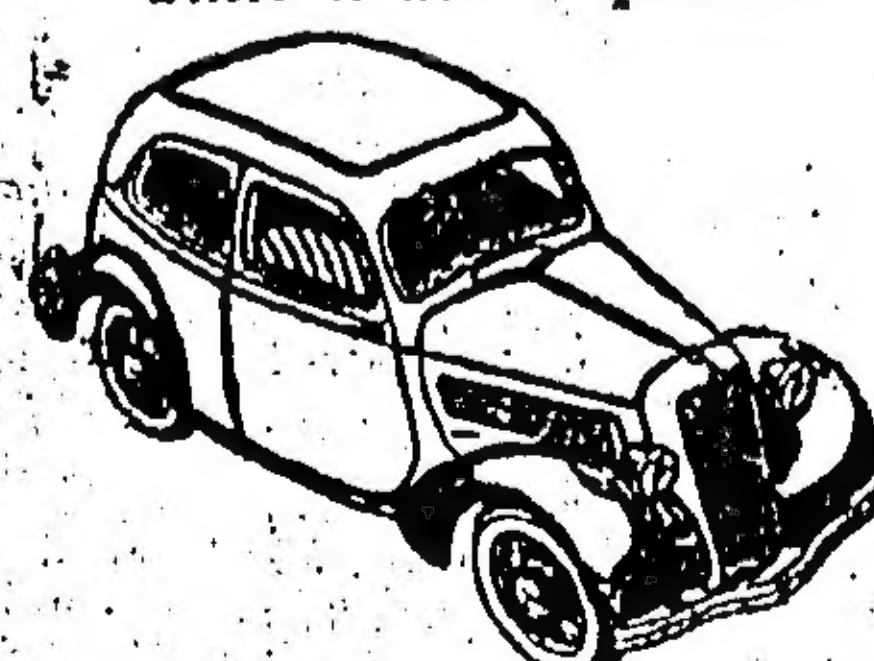

A German national football team, for the first time, will play in England this year, the F.A. International Selection Committee having decided to invite the German F.A. to send a team to take part in a match on Wednesday, December 4.

England drew 3-3 with Germany in Berlin in 1930. Last month Germany beat Rumania 4-2.

"Sydney Barnes", by Wilfrid S. White (E. F. Hudson, Ltd., Birmingham, 1s.) is a valuable little book devoted to a personal study of a great bowler. To quote a sentence contained in an introduction by Pelham Warner, "It tells the full story of one of the immortals of the game of cricket." Personal recollections of his tour in Australia under the captaincy of A. C. MacLaren (who introduced him to Lancashire cricket) are reproduced.

HONGKONG SWIMMERS SURPRISE

COLONY DRIVER SHOWS FINE FORM TO WIN FROM NORTHERNERS

DISAGREEMENT OVER DECISION IN THE FIFTY YARDS DASH

(By "Sagax")

To Lau Po-hei, the Colony Back Stroke expert and one of the many breakers of Interport swimming records, fell the distinction on Saturday night, of having won for Hongkong the aquatic contest at the V.R.C. against the Shanghai natatory experts who lost the annual Interport to the Colony by a margin of 57 points to 30.

However, it was Chan Chan-hing's surprise win against the Shanghai crack sprinters that enabled Lau Po-hei to claim the distinction of scoring the winning points by finishing first in the back stroke event. Hongkong had previously won the 280 yards through W. Lawrence while the Colony representatives surprised even the most optimistic supporter by subsequently winning the high diving and claiming an aggregate of 57 points out of a total of 87.

Every individual record fell to the Interport swimmers, six being broken by Hongkong representatives and one by Shanghai's captain, Noel Hammond. Incidentally several of the swimmers who were placed second also covered the respective distances within the old record times.

JUDGES DISAGREE

There seemed considerable disagreement among the judges in the 50 yards free style for so close was the race that it was extremely difficult for the officials to decide on the winner and I think a dead heat would not have been an unfair decision. It was several minutes after the race was concluded that the Hon. Secretary announced that the verdict was awarded to Chan Chan-hing, of Hongkong, and the fact that no time was announced for the second man, W. Ward, of Shanghai, seemed to indicate there was actually no difference in the times as elapsed but that Chan Chan-hing had won by a split fifth of a second.

Expectations were realized in the half mile event in which Lawrence had an easy task in claiming first place from L. Roza-Pereira, his team mate, who beat Sie Bok-ken into third place.

G. J. Grilk, the Shanghai half mile champion, constantly fouled the ropes and one occasion actually had to stop to release himself. After three quarters of the distance had been covered he gracefully retired from the race. He was, however, apparently beaten man even before he started fouling the lane markings.

In returning 11 mins. 50 secs. for the race Lawrence broke the Interport record of 11 mins. 59 2/5 secs. returned by Ohlwein, of Tientsin, in 1932 but he was outside his own and the Colony record of 11 mins. 47 4/5 secs. Even Roza-Pereira broke the old record for the distance, being within a second of Ohlwein's time.

COLONY CLINCHES ISSUE

After the half mile race Hongkong led by 39 points to 25 and required only five to secure the honours for the Interport with three events, (the 100 yards back stroke, diving and water polo) to go.

Lau Po-hei, who was included in the Colony side as second string to Lawrence consequent upon the latter's loss of a second victory in the Championships, made certain of the Interport honours by finishing first in the back stroke event in 40 1/2 seconds dead, this being both a Colony and Interport record. Lawrence was feeling the strain of his half mile swim but he nevertheless beat Hammond for second place.

Saturday was the first time within recent years that Shanghai lost the high diving and in winning against two experts like W. M. Humber and G. J. Grilk, the Colony Champion, E. de Roza, brought off one of the best feats of his career.

It was confidently expected that Humber would take chief honours and that Grilk would just about beat Roza but the two Shanghai divers were off form and left Roza a deserving winner. On Saturday's form it is more than probable that Wong Sik-hon would also have beaten the two visitors and added further to Hongkong's margin of victory over the Shanghai team.

Hongkong won the water polo match by three goals, as forecast and was full value for the victory. Douglas Laing, who can be considered a veteran water polo player, and distinguished himself by scoring two beautiful goals. Dr. Laing is a former Interporter but he has only recently returned to the Colony after his post-graduate studies in Europe and it is some years since he took an active interest in representative aquatics.

SPECTATORS SHOW IMPATIENCE

RECENT CRICKET MATCH

TOURISTS AT CANTERBURY

London, Aug. 29. An unusual happening occurred at Canterbury this afternoon. Owing to rain there was no chance of play starting at the usual hour in the cricket match between Kent and the South Africans, but conditions improved so quickly that it was anticipated the game would be begun directly after lunch.

Car owners only had been admitted, and when at 2.30 there was still no sign of a start many of them began to vent their displeasure by the loud sounding of their motor horns.

For a few minutes there was an infernal din, but it had the result of hastening matters. A new pitch was quickly provided, and South Africa went in to bat at 3.20.

So one-paced was the wicket that they scored 98 for the loss of Mitchell in 85 minutes, when, to the general astonishment and ill-concealed irritation, the players retired for tea.

Apart from all this, there was much to admire in the batting of the South Africans. Mitchell and Rowan found the Kent bowling so much to their liking, they scored at a great pace.

As a feature of Children's Day at the California Pacific International Exposition at San Diego recently, a match in boxing was arranged between the midges Don Williams, also called "Dynamite", and Charlie Royal, called the title of World's Paperweight champion. At this occasion former World's heavyweight champion, Jack Dempsey, was referee.

and distinguished himself by scoring two beautiful goals. Dr. Laing is a former Interporter but he has only recently returned to the Colony after his post-graduate studies in Europe and it is some years since he took an active interest in representative aquatics.

PREPARING FOR THE OLYMPIAD

IMPRESSIONS ON BERLIN WORK

REMARKABLE PROGRESS

Mr. Frederick W. Rubien, Secretary of the American Olympic Committee, has contributed to the Olympic Games News Service his impressions on the Berlin preparations for the Xth Olympiad. Mr. Rubien visited Berlin recently during the course of his European holiday, which he is now completing with his son in the south of England.

His visit to Grunau, the Stadium and the Olympic Village amazed me at the remarkable progress made in the construction of the 16 million dollar facilities required for the 1936 Olympic Games.

The Organizing Committee has about 6 per cent. of the work completed and the 2,600 men at work will complete the structures before winter sets in. No previous Olympic Games have been presented on so grand and elaborate a scale as will be the 1936 Games. No rowing course in the world can be compared to the splendid arrangements at Grunau, within a half hour ride from the centre of Berlin. The grand stand seats 5,000 people, and there is a magnificent setting and view of the entire course from start to finish for 50,000 people. The recent European rowing championships put the course to a satisfactory test.

EASILY ACCESSIBLE

"The 325 acres Sports Ground at Berlin can be reached in 15 minutes from the centre of the city and the buildings are beautifully located. The Stadium with 100,000 seats resembles the stadium at Los Angeles where the 1932 games were held, and a similar sized track is being constructed and is in place all but the top layer. The infield is being covered with ten years old turf taken from a nearby field. The swimming and diving stadium, seating 18,000, is an immense structure, and the assembly ground is a fine turf field. Gymnastics will be featured in a special open air theatre seating 20,000, in a bowl somewhat resembling the Hollywood Bowl.

"The Institute for Physical Education founded by Dr. Lewald and Dr. Diem ten years ago is being enlarged fourfold and with its numerous halls, gymnasiums and special rooms for various sports will be a model for structures of this kind in the future. The dormitories will be used to house the women athletes and its two tracks—one a duplicate of the Olympic track—will furnish the athletes of the world with suitable place for training.

INCOMPARABLE

"These huge grounds have special field and seating accommodations for Riding, Hockey, Basketball and Tennis, with ample railroad and parking spaces to handle the immense crowds.

"Los Angeles gave us an Olympic Village of temporary houses which pleased the athletes of the world, but it cannot be compared with the beautiful setting of the Berlin Village where 150 brick and stucco buildings with tiled roofs are nearing completion in a wooded grove. Each building contains ten bedrooms accommodating two athletes in each room. There are bath-houses and community rooms. A large dining-room, to be used eventually as a sanatorium, will furnish all of the dining facilities. Close by is a track to be used for training.

"The United States is making preparations to be represented in every sport on the Olympic programme and I am certain that the facilities presented will meet with great approval by our teams and that the housing facilities, the inspection of which was the object of my visit, will be found most satisfactory."

FOOTBALL TREAT

Six-A-Side Tourney Provides Thrills

LINCOLNS SIDE TRIUMPHS

(By "Sagax")

The football innovation introduced by the military authorities under the very able supervision of Capt. E. Hague, R.A., proved a very successful affair yesterday when the six-a-side competition was staged and provided some delightful soccer with which to open the recently renovated Sookunpoo Ground.

Altogether, there were 28 teams entered in the competition with some clubs and regiments sending in as many as four each.

A large crowd of spectators turned out for the competition and were treated to some very clever football played under conditions rarely seen in the Colony.

Several of the teams, particularly those new to six-a-side football, found the tactics of the game different to the usual eleven-a-side matches, and could not easily adapt themselves to the conditions.

WORTHY WINNERS

The Lincolnshire Regiment "A" team which contested the final with the East Lancashire proved worthy winners and were more able to play the six-a-side game than were some of their opponents.

Their passage to the final was an adventurous one for they were required to eliminate such powerful rivals as the South China premier six, which included Tan Kong-pak, Tay Kwai-ling and other leading personalities of the champion club.

The Lincoln took their courage into both hands and played a more dashing game than did their opponents who were inclined to adhere to the eleven-a-side tactics. In beating the Chinese in the semi-final round the Lincoln needed every strategy known to football and it was only by the margin of a corner that they qualified for the final. Each side had scored two goals but the soldiers had forced one corner during the game and it was thus that they earned the right to challenge the East Lancashire "A" combination.

HIGGINS BRILLIANT

The principal factor behind their victory was the brilliance of Higgins in goal and the sound combination of the forwards coupled with the perfect understanding which each man showed. Higgins, the Lincolnshire Regiment centre-forward, stood in between the sticks in the competition and the saves he brought off were worthy of a first class keeper.

He probably enjoyed the game more than anybody else for as goal keeper he had the added advantage of being able to use his hands when necessary. He set an example of agility by making many adventurous solo raids down the field and he was always able to get back into the goal area before any threatening attack could be initiated by the opposition.

During the semi-final match against South China when the Lincolns were one goal down Higgins changed his shirt and went forward altogether, leaving a comrade to take charge of the last line of defence. His strategic move proved the saving of the side for a goal was scored almost immediately afterwards and the combination was able to qualify by a corner.

The East Lancashires had a comparatively easy task in qualifying for the final as they had domestic battles practically throughout the competition. First they beat the Royal Engineers "B" team, then they eliminated in turn the Regiment's "D" side, the "C" team and then the "A" team before meeting the Lincolns "A" in the final.

MAY REMAIN IN ENGLAND

R. J. Williams Of The South African Team

London, Aug. 24.

There is a distinct possibility that when the South African cricketers sail they may leave several of their members behind, among them R. J. Williams, their reserve wicket-keeper.

Williams may be seen in the colours of a famous Rugby club of the North. He is a man of fine physique and is in the very top class of South African forwards. It was recently reported that A. D. Nourse may also remain in England.

The Wolves ground has been fixed as the venue of the match between England and Wales on Wednesday, February 6. The amateur match England v Ireland is to take place at Middlesbrough on February 15. The Amateur Trial, North v. South, will be played at Ilford on January 18.

The six-a-side football competition at Sookunpoo proved a highly interesting affair over the week-end. The Lincolnshire Regiment fielded four teams and won the trophy with the "A" aggregation. Picture shows the winners with the Cup which was presented to the captain of the team by Lieut. General O. C. Barrett.

UNIVERSITY CRICKET SWIMMING SPORTS

LAU PO-HEI WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

The third Inter-Hostel aquatic sports of the Hongkong University took place yesterday afternoon at the European Y.M.C.A. bath and were largely attended.

The events were keenly contested and most of the previous records were smashed.

His presence, he added, whether it be on a football field or at an athletic meet or aquatic sports, is always an inspiration to all.

After the prizes had been distributed Mr. M. K. Lo in a short speech on behalf of his wife and himself said that it was a great honour. The University had done to him in asking his wife to present the prizes, and he congratulated the record breakers and prize winners.

HOME SOCCER PROSPECTS

NO. 30: WOLVES

CENTRE-FORWARD PROBLEM

(By CHARLES BUCHAN)

Wolverhampton Wanderers have profited financially by their misfortunes during the three years they have been in the First Division. I foresee more misfortunes this year, though they cannot expect to go on doing well much longer through having to struggle to keep their place in the First Division.

Major Buckley, the manager, said very definitely at the annual meeting that the players he wanted were unobtainable. Unless he has something sensational up his sleeve, he will have to resort to daring gambling with his key positions.

The biggest gamble, of course, will be at centre-forward, where Hartill, a mainstay of the team, will be missed. Martin may or may not come off. Last season he failed to do so, perhaps because he was new to English football. The team can certainly play to him better than they did last year, but Martin himself must improve his shooting.

WHAT OF O'MAHONY?

Galley is the only hope as Martin's understudy. Though promising, he is far too inexperienced.

On paper there is a big problem about the other key position—centre-half. It will rest between Smalley and Morris, because Hollingworth will almost certainly have to continue at right back. I expect to see Smalley get the place at the start of the season.

That is unless O'Mahony, a well-built Irishman who made twelve appearances for Southampton last season, turns out to be a trump. A number of those sporting long shots of Buckley's have surprised everyone in the past.

The directors expect not much more than the retention of their place in the League this season, but hope for great things from their many promising youngsters in the years to come.

Goalkeepers: Spiers, Wenre, Utters.

Full-backs: Downen, Hollingworth, Laking, Shaw, Taylor, Marsden.

Half-backs: Cullis, Coley, Morris, O'Mahony, Rhodes, Richards, Smalley, Gibson, Green, Gardner.

Forwards: Adkins, Akers, Astill, Brown, Galley, Henson, Iverson, Johnson, Jones, Martin, Phillips, Thompson, Wigglesworth, Flaherty, Taylor, Chadwick, Miller, MacDermott.

NO. 31—EXETER

Hope to Be Among Leaders

Big things are expected from Exeter City, a club which has been reorganised and placed on a much sounder financial basis. The directorate has been overhauled and increased from eight to fifteen members, and the share capital has more than trebled. With more money available, the City have been able to launch out on the acquisition of players of ability.

Exeter are justly optimistic that they will be found among the leaders of the Southern Section. There seems such a fine blend of youth and ripe experience in the ranks that promotion appears on the horizon.

The attack will be hall-marked by the presence of two extremely clever inside forwards in Dunn, a Scottish international who rendered splendid service for Everton, and McLean, the former Blackburn Rover. Both these players are the possessors of F.A. Cup medals. In their another Third Division club able to boast of such a distinction?

Between two such shrewd schemers, Poulter should thrive on opportunities, and it is to this whole-hearted trio that supporters will look for plenty of goals. Outside-left, a position which has not been satisfactorily filled for a number of seasons, should

Heroic struggle and glowing romance blend in the new Fox Film production, "One More Spring," in which Warner Baxter and Janet Gaynor, the "stars that belong together," play the principal parts. The film will commence at the King's Theatre to-morrow.

FRIENDLY CRICKET GAMES

PRESS ELEVEN BEATEN

INDIAN R. C. WIN FROM TAMAR

The privilege of scoring the first century this season fell to D. Hunt, of the Hongkong University, who compiled a total of 106 runs not out in the friendly cricket match played between the Press and the University at Pokfulam on Saturday afternoon. The latter won by 72 runs.

Hunt put up a fine performance, and knocked up no less than 20 boundaries and a five.

The Press team were playing two men short, and in the early stages of the game an unfortunate accident robbed them of another player. G. W. Giffen, who was playing behind the stumps for the Press, failed to hold a fast ball from F. D. Pereira. The ball struck him on the ear and tore the lobe. He was sent to the Government Civil Hospital and had four stitches inserted.

INDIANS BEAT TAMAR

In their first friendly cricket match this season, the Indian Recreation Club defeated a team from H.M.S. Tamar by 10 runs at Happy Valley on Saturday afternoon. The Tamar eleven totalled 48 runs towards which R. Bowden contributed 10 and L. Baker 14. A. K. Ismail, A. Baker and T. Hamet captured two wickets each.

The I.R.C. total of 67 runs was largely contributed to by A. R. Kitchell who knocked up 28 runs. P. Byrne took three wickets and R. Holley two, in both cases for nine runs.

SERIAL STORY—

One I Love

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

Chapter XXXII

Rolf's tone was casual, good-natured. "Been wondering when I was going to have a chance to talk to you," he said. "Where've you been hiding yourself?"

Janet said, "Oh—you surprised me." She met his eyes and then avoided, bending to straighten the pile of magazines.

"It came a stop nearer," "You haven't been trying to avoid me, have you?" he asked.

"Why, of course not!" So quickly defensive that the words belted themselves. "I've been busy, I guess. You know I work here."

Rolf laughed. "And just now, apparently, nothing is quite so important as those magazines. But they looked very nice the way they were, I thought. Come on. Sit down. Is there any reason in the world why we shouldn't talk to each other for a few minutes?"

"No-o," Janet hesitated. There were reasons but she couldn't tell him what they were. The little fires burning in her cheeks. That excited sensation when her eyes met his. Oh, yes, there were reasons why Janet shouldn't turn and flee from that room but instead she sat down in a rose brocade chair.

"That's better!" He stood looking down at her, smiling. "You're very decorative in that chair. Becoming background. And that's a good-looking suit you're wearing, too. On the whole, you're looking unusually attractive."

He was the same Rolf. Exactly the same. When he paid compliments you could never be quite sure whether he really meant them or was joking. He pulled a chair forward, sat down, and drew from his pocket a silver cigarette case.

"Have one?" he asked, flipping open the cigarette case. She saw that the case was a new one and handsome. Suddenly it became a symbol. A symbol of all the changes that had taken place between them.

"Listen, Rolf," she said quickly. "I can't sit here talking to you. You know I can't. The only reason I'm in this house is because I'm paid to work here. There's one thing, though, I want to tell you. When I came here I didn't know Mrs. Curtis was your wife's mother."

She felt better now that she had got that out. It was easier to go on. "After I found out I was going away. But I needed the job and I didn't know where to find another. There aren't many jobs just now. I've been reading the want ad columns every day."

He stopped her. "But that's nonsense!" he exclaimed. "Listen, you aren't going to leave this job. Why, it's just the thing for you! Lots better than working down town in an office. Mrs. Curtis thinks a lot of you, too. I've heard her telling Betty she couldn't get along without you!"

His concern was genuine. The laughter was gone from the dark eyes now. "Promise me—you won't do that, Janet," he urged.

"You really think it's all right for me to stay?"

"Of course I do! I want you to," "I don't know exactly what I should do."

"Then let me decide for you! You've made a real place for yourself here. I'll see that there's nothing to—embarrass you. You needn't worry about that. Only we can be friends, I hope. There isn't any reason why we shouldn't be, is there?"

There was a flash of that quick, winning smile. Janet said, "No, Rolf." She smiled, too, and the colour deepened in her cheeks.

"Then let's shake on it." Their hands met. Janet said quickly, with a voice stately from emotion, "I've got to go now! I—I'm late."

In another moment she was hurrying up the stairs. She did not stop until the door of her own room had closed behind her. Then she sank down on the edge of the bed. She was cold and every bit of strength seemed to have ebbed from her body. She clonched her hands together tightly, shivering though her heart was pounding.

"I won't see him again!" Janet resolved. "I mustn't let him know I feel the way I do!"

But his eyes were smiling into hers as she said the words and the pain in her heart was so sharp that Janet instinctively raised one hand to shut out the sight. "Oh, Rolf!" she murmured, going back to the chorus of all her loneliness and unhappiness. "Oh, Rolf, why can't I forget?"

She didn't go down stairs again until she had heard Mrs. Curtis telling someone that Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle were dining out. Then Janet bathed and dressed and went down to the library.

Rolf proved to be as good as his word. Three days later Janet and Betty moved into their apartment and during those three days Janet saw him only once. He was with Betty then, on their way to some sort of engagement. He was wearing dinner clothes and Betty's wrap had slipped back to reveal her newest evening gown, a bizarre creation of coral and gold.

Betty was speaking to Rolf and did not even glance toward the other girl. Janet, after that first swift look, kept her eyes from meeting the man's.

With the young couple gone, she had hoped that the household would return to its quiet ordinariness but this did not prove true. There were still parties. There was still Betty and Betty's demands. Where all the money was coming from to maintain the Carlyles' elegant new home Janet had no idea. She knew Mrs. Curtis had paid a year's rent on the apartment and furnished it. But there were other expenses. Though Rolf was still at the Atlas Advertising Agency it was unbelievable that his salary could meet these demands. Janet had heard Betty had money in her own name. Perhaps that was how the bills were paid.

In one respect Betty had instituted economy. She had only one maid for the six-room apartment. Consequently when she entertained it soon became a habit for her to telephone her mother to send over Bertha.

"Cleopatra," Cecil B. DeMille, motion picture director, and master of the spectacle, has turned to the pages of history for his newest Paramount film which is entitled "Cleopatra," and which made its debut at the Star Theatre last night. With Claudette Colbert, Warren William and Henry Wilcoxon playing the principal parts, "Cleopatra" brings to the screen all the talent of this pioneer director, who has come up from the beginning of motion pictures, more than twenty years ago, with each new film topping his previous one. That his metier is the kind of film making shown here is beyond all doubt. In every lavish, glittering, fascinating sequence, the genius of DeMille speaks out in bold, clear strokes. "Cleopatra" is indeed the finest thing he has done. The supporting cast is complete with many of Hollywood's best players. Among those whom you will see are: Ian Keith, Joseph Schildkraut, C. Aubrey Smith, Gertrude Michael, Irving Pichel, William Farnum, Bryant Washburn, Robert Warwick, Edwin Maxwell and Harry Baresford.

"Werewolf of London" Universal, master of mystery! That title is unchallenged where ever motion pictures are made of the weird and baffling in human nature for daring exploration in the dark and hidden crannies of mysterious and dangerous personalities. Universal stands alone in the movie world. This leadership in the mystery field dates back to 1931 and extends over a series of notable feature films. It started with "Dracula," progressed through "Frankenstein," "The Invisible Man," "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," and "The Bride of Frankenstein," and comes to full flower in "Werewolf of London" now showing at the Queen's Theatre. Henry Hull has the title role in this screen study of a scientist who becomes infected with lycanthropy and turns periodically into a murderous creature half-man half wolf. Among the other featured players are Warner Oland, Varley Hoxton, Lester Matthews, Spring Byington and Clark Williams. Mystery was a dead letter in Hollywood in 1931 when Universal decided that the talking screen offered unlimited possibilities for exciting pictures of that kind. All other companies avoided the film of unswerving thrill and the most dangerous kind of dynamite at this box-office.

NOTES FROM THE THEATRES

Teaching the daughter he loves to love another man is the dramatic feat accomplished by Richard Dix in his starring role in "His Greatest Gamble" RKO-Radio Picture coming soon to the Queen's Theatre. In this production, Dix portrays a scapegrace but well intentioned father who seeks to guide his child to happiness, at no matter what the cost be to him. He steals the girl from the mother's custody, but their life together is terminated when an accidental killing sends him to jail for a long term. Then years pass and the daughter is rendered weak-willed and at her mother's dictation almost gives up the man she loves. At which her father breaks jail and precipitates a pulsating climax which saves the girl's happiness although it sends him back to prison for life. Dorothy Wilson, Bruce Cabot and Edith Fellows support Dix. John Robertson directed.

"One More Spring"

Heralded as a picture well off the beaten track through its half-irritual, half-realistic treatment, "One More Spring," co-starring Janet Gaynor and Warner Baxter, comes on Tuesday to the King's Theatre. It follows Robert Nathan's best-seller romance, and deals with an oddly assorted group of people who, through the kindness of an Irish street-sweeper, dwell through the winter in a big city park's tool-shed. A bankrupt dealer in antiques, a penniless girl, an out-of-work violinist and a ruined banker are the central characters in this offering. The interplay of their lives provides a type of entertainment that is said to be new to the screen. Director Henry King and Scenarist Edwin Burke (whose script on "Bad Girl" won the Academy award in 1932) gave the Fox Film picture an atmospheric quality similar to that of such silent classics as "Sunrise" and "Seventh Heaven." This objective marks a new departure by an able cast that includes Walter King, Jane Darwell, Roger Imhof, Grant Mitchell, Rosemary Ames, and the comic Stephen Fichtel. "One More Spring" should be an outstanding screen event.

or the cook. Lucy, who admired Mrs. Carlyle greatly, and considered her home equal to anything she had seen in the movies, was only too glad to go there to serve.

Betty found errands for Janet, too. She appropriated her services as casually as she took everything else that she wanted. Scarcely a day passed when Janet was not instructed by telephone to run over for a shopping list or to take care of some club obligation Betty had forgotten until the last minute.

On such visits Janet almost always found young Mrs. Carlyle in a gay lounging costume leaning back in one of the low, modernistic chairs, smoking and gossiping with some of her friends. The cocktail shaker was always in evidence. There was likely to be dance music coming from the radio and often the laughter was high-pitched and boisterous.

How did they keep it up, Janet wondered, those young people whose mornings, afternoons and evenings seemed devoted to parties? Of course they did not work but to Janet the constant round of gaiety in itself seemed strenuous. How could a young man like Rolf get to the office the morning ready for a day's work after a night of festivities that had not ended until dawn?

Surely there must be some quiet evenings, some time for rest. "They're young," Mrs. Curtis would say fondly. "There's time enough to be serious later on. I want my little girl to have everything in the world to make her happy."

Mrs. Curtis herself wasn't looking so well these days. There was one evening when she was dressing, preparing to go to the Thorntons that Janet rushed to the telephone to call Dr. Roberts. The physician came and prescribed two days of complete rest in bed. Mrs. Curtis, frightened, promised to obey these instructions faithfully but on the second day when Betty called and insisted her mother should come to fill out a table at her bridge party Betty, as usual, had her way.

Mrs. Curtis arose and dressed and set off for the bridge party and Janet was left to herself.

It was June and the season's first hot spell had set in. The air, both inside and out of the house, was stifling. Janet had finished her work and considered how to spend the afternoon. She felt an impulse to get away from the house.

There was no place in particular to go. Suddenly Janet decided to see a movie. It would be cool in the dark theatre. I would be restless, too. She hurried upstairs and put on a new blue linen dress and wide-brimmed white hat. She was wearing white oxfords, and the costume was becoming.

Janet walked to the bus stop and rode down to the business district. It was hotter here but the theatre would be cooled by artificial breezes. Janet was within half a block of the theatre when a window display caught her eye. She paused to look at it and that was why she did not see the man—until—turning, she almost bumped into him.

"Goin' to Town"

Not one, but seven leading men support Mae West in her new Paramount film, "Goin' to Town," now at the King's Theatre. The players, Paul Cavanagh, Ivan Lebedeff, Tito Coral, Fred Kohler, Sr. Monroe Owsley, Grant Withers and Gilbert Emery, all play important parts, essential to the story. "Goin' to Town" is the picture in which Mae West goes modern. No longer swathed in the "Gay Nineties," Mae West becomes an up-to-date girl with ultra-modern ideas in modern surroundings. The opening scenes of "Goin' to Town" are laid in the Middle West where Mae West acquires a lot of money by the process of getting rid of her wealthy husband. Then she really starts going places. Following a handsome, young Englishman, Paul Cavanagh, on whom she has eyes, Mae West goes to Buenos Aires for the races. Here she meets and marries Monroe Owsley, a broken-down member of select Southampton society, because she wants to meet the bluebloods. With a useless husband, and hordes of admirers and fortune hunters, she has quite a time of it until Cavanagh turns up to tell her that he has loved her all the time. The picture, which was directed by Alexander Hall, provides Mae West with several singing opportunities.

LESSON SERMON

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONGKONG

"Matter" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, yesterday.

The Golden text was "Blow ye the trumpet in Zion, and sound an alarm in my holy mountain: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord cometh, for it is nigh at hand." (Joel 2:1).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson Sermon was the following from the Bible: "While he yet spake, there cometh one from the ruler of the synagogue's house, saying to him, Thy daughter is dead; trouble not the Master. And he put them all out, and took her by the hand, and called, saying, Maid, arise. And her spirit came again, and she arose straightway; and he commanded to give her meat." (Luke 8:49, 54, 55).

The Lesson Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Principle and proof of Christianity are discerned by spiritual sense. They are set forth in Jesus' demonstrations, which show by his healing the sick, casting out devils, and destroying death, 'the last enemy that shall be destroyed,' his disregard of matter and its so-called laws." (p. 210).

BITTEN BY DOGS

MAN AND WOMAN RECEIVE TREATMENT

Mrs. L. Gock Chin, residing at No. 14 Fung Fai Terrace, has reported to the police that her Alsatian dog bit her gardener, Siu Kam, on the leg. The man was treated at the Government Civil Hospital, and the dog was examined by the Colonial Veterinary Surgeon.

Another report of a dog-bite was made by a woman Chan Wah-ching, residing at No. 66 Tai-po Road, who stated that a Pekinese dog owned by Mak Wai-lam, residing at the same address, had bitten her on the left hand. The dog was removed to Ma Tau Kok for observation, while the woman received medical treatment.

BRITAIN STILL OPTIMISTIC

HOPE CHERISHED OF A PEACEFUL OUTCOME

London, Sept. 21. Italy's rejection of the proposals of the Committee of Five has startled public opinion though the hope is still cherished that there will be a more favourable outcome. The decision makes it certain that the British Cabinet will meet next week. Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the Prime Minister, is expected to return to Downing Street on Sunday evening, and it is therefore possible that the Cabinet will be convened on Tuesday. The Italian decision and possible consequences may lead to an earlier re-assembling of Parliament than October 29, though it is possible that the international situation may remain so delicate in the immediate future that a public discussion in Parliament may be judged as inadvisable at present.—Reuter.

Cabinet Meeting

London, Sept. 21. The British Cabinet will meet on Tuesday.—United Press.

Collective Security Upheld

London, Sept. 21. Sir John Simon, the Home Secretary stated to-day that Britain's firm attitude against Italy was founded solely on her determination to preserve the system of collective security.—United Press.

Royal Message

Geneva, Sept. 21. There is a strong rumour here that the King of Italy has written to King George appealing for a better Anglo-Italian understanding. British circles, however, are stated to be unaware of this fact.—Reuter.

Splendid Morale

Malta, Sept. 21. The morale of the civilian population here is remarkable. The presence of units of the Atlantic Fleet and of the giant battleships and cruisers of the Home Fleet in the Mediterranean is greatly welcomed and Malta is convinced that Britain is doing her utmost towards its defence. The population is co-operating splendidly in the night defence reconnaissance with the air force, and are attending lectures on chemical warfare and methods of defence in large numbers.—Reuter Special.

Committee Postpone Decision

Geneva, Sept. 21. The Committee of Five held a brief meeting to-day, but took no decision pending a formal reply from the Italian Government regarding the compromise plan. The reply is expected to-morrow. It is anticipated that Baron Aloisi will ask for further information and this will enable the Committee of Five to ask Italy to state definitely what she considers would be an acceptable basis for negotiations.

The Committee will doubtless throw the onus of presenting plans upon Italy. In any case the Committee is determined to push on as quickly as possible with the issue.

Many of the Small Powers already feel that the Committee has gone further than the circumstances justify.—Reuter.

Rejection By Italy

Geneva, Sept. 21. The Committee of Five have announced that Baron Aloisi, the Italian spokesman, has delivered an official communique from the Italian Cabinet rejecting the proposals.

The Committee is now awaiting a further reply and will meet again on Monday, indicating that both the League of Nations and Italy are attempting to delay what is apparently an inevitable break.

Some diplomats believe that Italy would be inclined to accept more favourable League proposals if they were offered, citing the Italian communique which states "The proposals are not acceptable inasmuch as they do not offer a minimum basis towards a conclusive materialisation which... takes into account Italy's vital rights and interests."—United Press.

"The Door Ajar"

Geneva, Sept. 21. The Committee of Five met to-day in an atmosphere of hopelessness to consider the Italian rejection of its peace formula, and delegates have indicated that they doubt whether the Committee will attempt further proposals.

The Italian delegate, Baron Aloisi, expressing a personal opinion of the rejection said, "It leaves the door ajar for further discussion on a basis other than that of the Committee of Five's offer."

The Committee are now preparing a report to be submitted to that League Council which will probably meet on Monday. The procedure will then be that the Council will itself make recommendations which, if rejected, may

LEITH-ROSS MISSION

VISIT TO NANKING WITH SIR ALEXANDER CADOGAN

Shanghai, Sept. 21. Accompanied by Lady Leith-Ross, Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, the chief economic adviser of the British Government, arriving at 3 p.m. to-day from Japan by the Shanghai Maru, was greeted by a host of Chinese and British notables, including Sir Alexander Cadogan, the British Ambassador. Sir Frederick, who is staying at the Cathay Hotel, will have offices at the British Consulate-General.

Sir Frederick and Sir Alexander Cadogan will leave for Nanking on Monday and will meet members of the Government, returning to Shanghai after three or four days. It is reported that he will not travel widely during his stay, but will remain mostly in Shanghai.—Reuter.

Sir Frederick Leith-Ross is visiting China in the company of Mr. E. Hallpach and Mr. C. Rogers, officials respectively of the Treasury and the Bank of England, to see whether, in co-operation with the other Powers with interests in China, any proposals can be framed which will help to restore stable and satisfactory conditions benefiting China's export trade and foreign traders.

During his stay in Japan, Sir Frederick exchanged views with the Japanese Foreign Minister, Mr. K. Hirota, and other notables. He also had an audience with the Japanese Emperor.

Difficulties of Task

Shanghai, Sept. 22. Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, who is leaving for Nanking to-morrow in company with Lady Leith-Ross and Sir Alexander Cadogan, declared in the course of an interview that his mission was to investigate economic conditions.

He was uncertain how exactly the work can be started as social, economic and political conditions here were so different from England.

Regarding a loan to China, Sir Frederick declared that it would be hard for China to get one in view of past experience of defaults. Commenting on his visit to Japan, Sir Frederick said he had a definite assurance that the Japanese authorities favoured a stabilised and prosperous China, but they were sceptical as to the possible results of the present investigation because they thought that it was "hard to deal with China."—Reuter.

Japanese Comment

Shanghai, Sept. 22. Newspapers in Japan continued to speculate on the purposes of Sir Frederick Leith-Ross' mission to China.

The Kokumin Shinbun of Tokyo expressed the opinion that Britain, somewhat tardily, realized Japan's gigantic industrial strides and is now seriously concerned over the problem of retaining her own position in China, apparently desiring Japan's co-operation to that purpose.

"Sir Frederick Leith-Ross and his fellow countrymen must feel ashamed of the fact that when there is an increasing clamour for redistribution of territories Britain is shutting out Japan from her markets, meanwhile denying Japan opportunity to share in the development of the economic resources of the British empire."—Union News.

REGISTRY WEDDINGS

THREE CHINESE COUPLES MARRIED ON SATURDAY

Three marriages were performed by the Registrar of Marriages at the Supreme Court on Saturday morning. Mr. Leung Tak-wai, the well-known local footballer, clerk in the Assessors Office, of No. 436 Nathan Road, Kowloon, was married to Miss Wong San-lau, of No. 543 Nathan Road, Kowloon.

Another footballer, the former Athletic full-back, Mr. Lai Yuk-tat, Assistant Marine Surveyor, of No. 12 St. Francis Yard, Hongkong, son of the late Mr. Lai Wing, was married to Miss Tan Sit-haan, daughter of the late Mr. Tan Chik-san.

Mr. William Kwong Sing-yung, of the Canton Air Force Headquarters, and of No. 298 Tai Nan Street, Shamshuipo, was married to Miss Violet Wai Fong-lau, of No. 48 Nullah Road, Mong Kok.

result in their formally terming Italy the aggressor.—United Press.

Terms Summarised

Geneva, Sept. 21. The United Press to-day had an opportunity of examining the rejected text.

It consisted firstly, of general observations on the Italian and Ethiopian contentions; secondly, the establishment of a charter assistance for Ethiopia, envisaging the reorganisation of the police, economic, financial and other public services and the appointment of League advisers to Emperor Selassie; and thirdly, Anglo-French concessions of a seaport for Ethiopia in return for Ethiopian economic concessions to Italy.—United Press.

GERMANY TO BE NEUTRAL

SURPRISE AT ITALY'S REPLY

Berlin, Sept. 21. The news of the Italian Cabinet's rejection of the recommendations of the Committee of Five has greatly surprised official circles here, but it is still hoped that it leaves a way open for further negotiations which will result in an avoidance of hostilities.

In view of Herr Hitler's declaration at Nuremberg regarding his non-interference in matters which do not concern Germany, it is safe to conclude that the German Government would declare neutrality in any conflict arising from the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

A Government spokesman ridiculed the suggestion, in the French press that Germany might march into the Memel district. All they wanted was that the signatories of the Memel Pact saw that autonomy was restored in Memel.—Reuter.

U. S. Neutrality

New Orleans, Sept. 21. Veterans of foreign wars in which America has participated have unanimously demanded a constitutional amendment giving the United States a permanent neutrality policy under which "it will clearly decline America's refusal to participate in any treaty which will, in any way invite the possibility of war."

They have also demanded an automatic embargo on the shipment of munitions to belligerents, and to repudiate the responsibility of protection of American investments abroad.—United Press.

New Department

Washington, Sept. 21. The State Department has formed a section which is to be called "The Office of Arms and Munitions Control," headed by Mr. Joseph C. Green, the State arms embargo expert, which has been charged with the duty of registering manufacturers, and dealers in implements of war, licensing exports and supervising the international traffic.—United Press.

Japan's Neutrality

Rome, Sept. 21. It is believed that the French Ambassador, the Marquis de Chambrun, has urged his colleagues to exert the good offices of Japan to improve the relations between Italy and Great Britain. It is also understood that Mr. Yotaro Sugimura, Under-Secretary General of the League Secretariat, has assured the French Ambassador of Japan's complete neutrality in the dispute.—Reuter.

MOTERING MISHAPS

DRIVERS REPORT ACCIDENTS TO THE POLICE

Mr. C. F. J. Simpson, of the Asiatic Petroleum Co's installation, North Point, reported to the police on Friday that while driving private car No. 2752 along Hennessy Road he knocked down a Chinese, who ran into the car. The man, who was apparently unhurt, ran away after the accident.

Mr. A. Y. Calamel, driver of private car No. 4225, reports that while he was driving along Gascoigne Road on Friday about 8 p.m. a cyclist collided with his car. The man was not injured.

"Island" Damaged

The tramway island at Hennessy Road near the beginning of Tin Lok Lane, Wanchai, has again been the scene of a traffic mishap. It has been reported to the police that Mr. Brown, of No. 45 Morrison Hill Road, was driving private car No. 2328 from west to east along Hennessy Road about 3.15 a.m. yesterday, when he collided with the safety island.

The front right wheel of the car and the lamps on the edge of the island were slightly damaged. No persons were injured.

This is the third time the same island has been run into by cars since its installation.

FLOODS AT CHUNGKING

RAPID AND ALARMING RISE OF RIVER

Chungking, Sept. 22. Arousing fears of a new flood, the Yangtze continued to rise last week, reaching the peak level of 80 feet above normal before receding. Large areas of farm land along the Yangtze and Kialing rivers were inundated, hundreds of houses being undermined and carried away by the torrent.

The latest floods resulted from the melting of snows in the mountains. The Kialing river enters the Yangtze at this point and both streams are subject to rapid changes in level. The Kialing mounted to more than 100 feet above normal.—Union News.

MUSSOLINI'S MINIMUM DEMANDS DISCLOSED

MORE TERRITORY REQUESTED LEAGUE OFFER NOT SATISFACTORY BUT DOOR STILL OPEN FOR NEGOTIATIONS

London, Sept. 23.

The wording of the Italian communique, coupled with the Italian Government's subsequent criticism of the League plan, is regarded as a favourable sign by the London morning newspapers.

Signor Mussolini's minimum demands, according to the Daily Telegraph, include:

- (1) More territory than promised Italy;
- (2) Any outlet to the sea for Ethiopia must be through Eritrea;
- (3) The Ethiopian Army must be disarmed, and Italy entrusted with its reorganisation;
- (4) Sufficient territory must be ceded by Ethiopia to join Eritrea and Italian Somaliland.

OTHER VIEWS

The Times says the only new and most welcome feature of the Italian communique is that it seems no longer to dispute the right of the League to arrive for a peaceful settlement between two of its members, and there are also other indications that the door to peace is not finally closed.

The Daily Herald also declares that the door is still open for negotiations, but it Italy believes that a week's threatening bluster, followed by a sudden offer to bargain, will induce the Committee, the Council or the League to compromise in principle, or to make an offer better than the one rejected, then Italy deceives herself.

The Daily Mail says there are welcome signs that the storm is blowing over, and adds that a new effort will be made to meet Mussolini's claims.—Reuter.

The Daily Telegraph, commenting on the situation, counsels a policy of patience, and says it is obvious that a powerful impression has been made on Rome by the firm attitude taken by the Council and Assembly of the League of Nations. This has been deepened by the unobtrusive but striking reinforcement of British naval strength in the Mediterranean, both at Gibraltar and in Egyptian waters.

BRITISH INTEREST

New York, Sept. 22.
The United Press staff correspondent, Mr. Louis Keemele, declares that behind the British opposition to Signor Mussolini's war plan against Ethiopia is something more fundamental than the altruistic desire to defend a backward African kingdom.

The British feel, he says, that the present Italian campaign is the forerunner of a dream of colonial empire which, if it is permitted to succeed, may threaten the status of the British colonial empire in Africa.

If any power except Britain attempted to dominate the Mediterranean, the Red Sea and the other links with India, the Orient, Australia and New Zealand, it would be construed as a definite threat to imperial communications of a vital nature. The British public emphatically opposes war, but the safeguarding of the Empire is quite another matter.

In the event of an Anglo-Italian war others easily might be involved. For example, France and England are natural allies, and joint supporters of the League of Nations. France, moreover, has continental allies. Conversely Italy has potential allies near at hand. Germany, for instance, may see in any Anglo-Italian clash an opportunity to regain her lost colonies.—United Press.

TRANSPORTS STILL SAIL FOR AFRICA

ITALIANS POURING INTO COLONIES

VOLUNTEER VETERANS

Naples, Sept. 22.
Italy is still pouring troops into Africa and Naples resembles a permanent armed camp.

This week five transports left with over 6,000 men and a large number of motor lorries, mules, horses and other war materials, for East African ports.

The officers in this contingent included the 60-year-old Captain Jettone, one of the few remaining survivors of the battle of Adowa, where the Italian army was slaughtered by the Ethiopians in the disastrous campaign of 1896. He has volunteered for service in the contemplated Ethiopian war.

Later this week a further 3,000 troops are scheduled to sail and more detachments from all parts of Italy are daily arriving at Naples, and are prepared for embarkation.

Signor Bittie, Governor of Rome, is one of the latest volunteers for active service. His offer has been accepted by Signor Mussolini, who feels that such an example will be inspiring to the troops. The Governor is handing over his high office in the Rome Council to his successor on September 28.—Reuter Special.

London, Sept. 22.

Captain Percival was again the pilot.—British Wireless.

COMMODITY MARKETS SOARING

WAR TENSION HAS EFFECT

STERLING'S WEAKNESS

Washington, Sept. 22.
War tension has spread into the American industrial and financial life, resulting in soaring commodity and nervous security and foreign exchange markets. There are increasing Italian enquiries for American products.

Upwards of $8,000,000 in gold is en route to New York, partly from foreign holders seeking refuge and partly from gold currency nations whose money has slumped to a level where domestic importation is profitable.

The switching of funds from sterling to the dollar is believed responsible for sterling's drop to the lowest rate since June.

Chicago, Buenos Aires and Liverpool wheat markets are very active and prices have moved rapidly upward. Copper is also upward, resulting in increased production, and incidentally increasing the by-product production, including silver. Cotton, since September 1, has advanced about $1.50 per bale, partly because of the fear that the Suez Canal might be closed, thus preventing the delivery of Indian cotton and resulting in foreign buying.

Tokyo is experiencing a war boom while Italians are very nervous. The New York Stock Market is very uncertain. "War babies" and industrialists are reacting markedly to daily war developments. Insurance companies are all increasing their war area protection rates.—United Press.

NEWSPAPER COMMENT

London, Sept. 22.

JAPAN TAKES NO WAR RISKS

Won't Insure Cargo On Italian Ships

Tokyo, Sept. 23.

Japanese maritime insurance companies have refused henceforth to include war risk in policies for cargoes on Italian vessels. It is emphasised that Japan was acting on lines merely parallel to Lloyd's, who have given a similar refusal, and the decision should consequently not be regarded as any departure from the strictest neutrality.—Reuter Special.

and other foreign press circles to misrepresent the attitude of the British Government towards the dispute between Ethiopia and Italy.

The diplomatic correspondent of the Observer says: "The Spanish press, for instance, has in the last few days been featuring the issue as an 'Italo-British issue.' He continues that it is 'important that the British Government policy should not be misunderstood. It is a League of Nations policy, in which the cardinal principle is that of collective responsibility. The British Government is not competent, and has no desire or intention, to take any action whatsoever except as a member of the League.' 'British action, therefore, is entirely dependent upon the League.' (Continued on Page 4.)

RED MENACE IN CANADA DISCLOSED

UNEMPLOYED PLAN COUP D'ETAT

PREMIER'S STORY

Victoria, Sept. 22.
The Canadian Government had learned through its secret operatives that the recent march of the unemployed from Toronto to Ottawa, the Dominion's capital, was part of a plot to seize the Prime Minister, Mr. R. B. Bennett, as a hostage and to set up a Soviet Government.

This was the remarkable assertion of Mr. Bennett himself, speaking before a meeting which inaugurated his coast-to-coast election campaign.

Mr. Bennett declared that Moscow maintained well-paid agents in Canada, but that Canadians would never tolerate interference in their affairs, by outside agencies.

When 400 men and 20 women recently marched to Ottawa to air alleged grievances of the unemployed, Mr. Bennett granted an interview to a small deputation, and refused their demands. No disorders occurred during the marchers' brief stay in Ottawa, and the group dissolved soon after the return march to Toronto started.—Reuter.

MAN ADMITS STABBING

PEN-KNIFE USED IN ASSAULT

A frank admission that he had stabbed the complainant, Wong Chung-wong, with a penknife in the back was made by Lo King-fuk when he appeared before Mr. W. Schofield, at the Central Magistrate's court this morning, charged with assault.
The defendant said the complainant and another man chased him in First Street, and he stabbed the former.
According to the police, the complainant was alleged to have had a chopper with him, and this was picked up at the scene of the alleged assault, but the penknife which the defendant was supposed to have used was not found.
Mr. Schofield sentenced the defendant to six weeks' hard labour, and bound over both parties in personal bonds of $50 each to keep the peace for one year.

ITALY WILLING TO BARGAIN?

ALOISI CONSULTS WITH MADARIAGA

Geneva, Sept. 22.

Great importance is attached here to the long conversations between Baron Aloisi and Senor de Madariaga, the Chairman of the Committee of Five of the League of Nations, which has been attempting to reach a formula for the settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

During the consultation it is understood that Baron Aloisi received a communication from the Italian Government, of which Senor Madariaga took note, and which he later circulated to his colleagues on the League Committee.

It is gathered that the Italian communication dealt with various points of the Committee's proposals, showing where these were considered inadequate and where Italy considered them objectionable.

SILVER'S IMPROVED PROSPECT

MARKET STEADIER IN PAST WEEK

BOMBAY'S REVIEW

Bombay, Sept. 21.
Messrs. Merwanjee & Sons, in their silver review for the week ending yesterday, write:—
After some irregularity, the market steadied towards the close of the week.

The improvement in sentiment has been partly due to the smooth progress of the monthly settlement which began on September 19th, being mostly stimulated by reports that the American Treasury was a buyer in London at 1/16 over the last purchase price. This development seems to have confirmed the belief in the East that the dollar played some part in determining the Treasury's price.

The up-country demand has averaged about 10 bars of silver a day.

A surplus of about 35,500 bars is now expected after the settlement on October 16th.

There is no silver allotment from London to Bombay at this week-end.

The incoming mail steamer is not bringing any silver from London to Bombay.—Reuter.

ERADICATING PLAGUE

GOVERNMENT'S STEPS IN FUKIEN

Amoy, Sept. 22.
The National Government Quarantine Service announced today that the outbreak of bubonic plague in Lungyen, southern Fukien, is under control, and that the Government physicians are gradually withdrawing.
The Government is preparing to establish research stations throughout the affected area, aiming to discover and eradicate the cause of the outbreak, which annually takes a heavy toll of human life.
More than 150 lives were lost in the outbreak in the Lungyen district, 100 miles North-west of Amoy.—Union News.

It is understood that Italy is not in favour of Ethiopia being given access to the sea, and has certain proposals to make regarding territorial rectification and the suppression of the arms traffic in the kingdom of the Negus, whose tribesmen Italy alleges carry on this trade very extensively.

It is regarded as most significant that the Italian Government now come into the open and will discuss the Committee of Five's plans. It is pointed out that while there is still a considerable difference between the standpoints of Italy and the Committee of Five, once it becomes a question of bargaining there is every hope that an agreement may be reached.—Reuter.

CONCILIATORY ATTITUDE

Rome, Sept. 22.
Writing in Voce d'Italia, the reliably informed Signor Gayda, adopts a conciliatory tone, pointing out that the Committee of Five's scheme does not reckon on possible provocative action on the part of the Ethiopian army, which is not like other armies. Thus, the League Committee has not considered that problem of Italian colonial security.—Reuter.

DEATH OF SIR N.E. LEWIS

LIEUT-GOVERNOR OF TASMANIA

London, Sept. 22.

A Melbourne message states that the death has occurred of the Lieutenant-Governor of Tasmania the Hon. Sir Neil Elliott Lewis, K.C.M.G.

The deceased, who was born in 1858, has been Governor of Tasmania since 1933. He was educated at Hobart and Balliol College, Oxford, and was called to the Bar at the Inner Temple in 1883, later being admitted as barrister and solicitor of the Supreme Court of Tasmania.

In 1886, he was elected a member of the House of Assembly, Tasmania, on which he served for many years. He was Premier and Attorney-General from 1890 to 1903 and again held the Premiership from 1909 to 1912. He became Chancellor of the University of Tasmania in 1924, continuing in that post until 1933. Formerly an officer in the Commonwealth Military Forces, he was later named on the retired list. He was President of the Tasmanian Law Society for many years, and in 1902 was allowed to retain the title of Honourable for life.—British Wireless.

Liner's Loss
War DramaADVENTURE OF HIGH SEAS TOLD FOR
FIRST TIME

AN adventure on the high seas in which 362 British sailors and U.S. soldiers lost their lives was disclosed last month 17 years afterwards, by one of the survivors.

The episode concerns the last voyage of the armed cruiser Otranto, and the man who told the tale was Commander A. B. Campbell. He broadcasted in London.

On September 27, 1918, Otranto steamed out of New York leading a convoy of vessels carrying American troops to France.

Bad luck dogged the convoy. The weather was unusually bad, and the ships, crammed from stem to stern with troops, had to plough their way through mountainous seas against which they could make but little headway.

Influenza Plague To add to the terrors of a nightmare voyage a plague of Spanish influenza broke out, and many of the troops and crew died.

It was a convoy of death, and many young American soldiers found a resting place in the Atlantic.

When the Hebrides came in sight every soul in the convoy was thinking that the next 24 hours would see the ships safely in an English port. But there was a new disaster.

Otranto, riding in big seas, came into collision with one of the troopships, S.S. Kashmir, with terrible results.

Otranto was crippled, and in accordance with orders was left behind while the rest of the convoy, now comparatively safe from the submarine menace, made for port.

Loss Of 362 In heavy seas Otranto was dashed to pieces on the rocky coast with a loss of 362 lives.

The survivors of Otranto still talk of the extraordinary gallantry and seamanship shown by Lieutenant Craven, the commander of the destroyer Mounsey, which went to the assistance of the stricken ship and was instrumental in saving their lives.

He carried his destroyer in a terrific sea between the wreck and the shore and took off many of Otranto's men.

He said: "A big sea was running at the time. Otranto was steaming along the Irish coast when it was seen that the Kashmir was too near. Every attempt was made to avoid a collision, but the ships came rapidly together and the other boat crashed into Otranto on the port side amidships. The troops and crew showed splendid nerve."

Lifeboats Smashed "I cannot speak too highly of the courage and the seamanship of the young officer, Lieutenant Craven. Although Captain Davidson, of Otranto, told him that it was impossible to bring his ship alongside in such a sea he insisted on doing so."

"It was not until the situation became desperate, with two lifeboats smashed, the ship settling, and the destroyer holding on to us with extreme difficulty that Lieutenant Simmons, one of the American officers, shouted, 'Every man for himself!'"

"Then every man jumped as his chance came, and in a few minutes the 'destroyer' was crowded. A great wave washed over her and some 10 or 12 men were carried away."

"Nothing but the magnificent seamanship of Lieutenant Craven could have saved so many."

Five hundred and ninety-five men of Otranto were saved by Mounsey.

GIRL SPYPLEA TO MAN
SHE MEANT TO DUPE

Brest, Sept. 10. A BEAUTIFUL woman spy, who came to this naval port with the avowed intention of using her charms to secure secret information for a foreign Power, confessed to the police during her trial, which ended to-day, that she had been herself betrayed by love for the man she would have duped.

She had neglected her orders and "double-crossed" the country which paid her.

The central figures, in this drama of love and espionage were Lydia Oswald, a beautiful blonde, described as a German girl, and the young Count Jean de Forceville, a member of a wealthy Parisian family and an ensign in the new cruiser La Galissonniere, considered to be the last word in naval construction.

Lydia was to-day sentenced to nine months' imprisonment. She has already been seven months in gaol. The officer was acquitted.

"Sacred Hope" Lydia Oswald was closely examined during the trial yesterday. She broke down in tears and said:

"I was paid money for this mission to Brest, but almost at once I fell desperately in love with this officer whom I thought to make my dupe."

"I love him so much that I was unable to carry out my mission, and I never sent the slightest information."

"He had promised to marry me, and I let him understand that our liaison was crowned by sweet and sacred hope."

During the trial she wrote to the count from her prison cell a letter in which she says: "Darling, think of our child."

"I Will Marry Her" When Count de Forceville, who has admitted that he fell madly in love with the beautiful spy, was given the message he replied: "I will resign if necessary, but I will marry Lydia."

No incriminating documents were found in Lydia Oswald's luggage, she nevertheless was charged on her own confession

French Prison
ReformHORRORS OF DEVIL'S
ISLAND TO GO

Paris, Sept. 10. The horrors of Devil's Island, most important of France's penal settlements, will soon become legend with the putting into effect of the French Government's projected reforms by Governor Georges Lamy, newly appointed head of the colony.

The first step that Governor Lamy intends to take in his efforts to transform French Guiana, of which Devil's Island is a part, into a prosperous and respectable Colony, will be in the form of improved conditions for the liberated convicts who must spend ten years of isolation there after having served their sentences of hard labour.

At the present time it is estimated that there are about 2,000 of these liberés—as they are called—in the colony. Most of them are left to their own resources and in many cases are reduced to dire helplessness. With the stigma of crime upon them and shunned by French colonials who have interests there, they frequently attempt to escape and in most cases perish in jungle or swamp.

Hoping to eliminate this system gradually, Governor Lamy will institute in the meantime a series of measures which will help the "liberated convict" to earn a living and regain his self-respect. The reforms are being rushed to realization as quickly as conditions permit.

Salvation Army Aids The Salvation Army already is paving the way for improvement of social conditions. It has established a fishing station near Cayenne and is organising a canning factory so that these men without a country can find employment. Colonials engaged in business there are encouraged to employ them as servants or labourers.

Authorities point out here that although Devil's Island has given its name to all the penal settlements in French Guiana, it is actually only a small part of that colony, the most important, convicts camp being located on the mainland at Cayenne. Devil's Island, itself, is one of three islets known as the Iles de Salut and located 35 miles off the coast of French Guiana. The other two are called St. Joseph and Ile Royale.

Contrary to popular belief, the most desperate convicts are not kept on Devil's Island—but on St. Joseph's Island. They are sent to this spot whenever they prove too unruly for the settlements on the mainland. As a rule they number from two to three hundred.

Private Servants The Ile Royale, which has a particularly healthy climate, is used exclusively for sick prisoners. A regular sanatorium, with nurses and doctors in attendance, has been constructed here.

On Devil's Island, there are five or six exiles only. They are all reported to be state prisoners and enjoy more privilege than ordinary convicts. They are said to have private houses and servants.—United Press.

The future of the young officer, who is under open arrest, is still undecided.

At Every Dance Since her arrival in Brest Lydia Oswald, who speaks perfect English, French, and German, and was always beautifully dressed, was the adored of every young naval officer in the town.

Much to his companions' chagrin, she selected the Count de Forceville as her favourite. She was seen in his company at every dance and fete, and at the Naval Ball at the Opera in Paris a week before her arrest, her beauty made her the most conspicuous woman in the room.

A certain quantity of opium was found at the count's flat ashore, and it is alleged that he and Lydia often smoked opium together.

Immortality
As Goal Of
U.S. ScientistsFROZEN IN 1935:
DE-FROZEN IN
A.D. 2035!

Hollywood, Sept. 5. Blood of Jekal, a tuberculosis ridden monkey, "frozen to death" and brought to life by a young research chemist, has offered one of the most amazing possibilities in modern medicine.

Jekal's blood, tested for tuberculosis three days after he had emerged from his brief "death", showed no trace of the disease.

Dr. Ralph S. Willard, former Columbia University chemist who has experimented for five years in reviving animals after they had been scientifically "frozen to death," said he would not regard the result of his tests as final until they had been repeated two or three times.

"I used the 'complement fixation test' to measure the presence of tubercle bacilli," he said. "The result was negative, but it is possible the freezing might have changed blood conditions slightly."

Intriguing Possibilities

Meanwhile Dr. Willard was offering intriguing possibilities of his new freezing-and-reviving process, which he expects to be "sufficiently perfected to work with human beings in two years."

These include:

Freezing felons who have committed "long term" crimes, saving society cost of upkeep during imprisonment—during which the prisoner would be packed away in a cask of ice—and possibly bringing the criminal back to life a better man for his experience.

Freezing candidates for immortality who would like to return to earth some time in the distant future to tell people how 20th century "barbarians" got along.

And—closer to reality—test for cure of tuberculosis, syphilis and cancer in human beings, through the process of freezing tissues and destroying germs or infecting elements.

The "immortality" idea was suggested by Dr. Robert Cornish, a Berkeley, California, scientist who claims a method of restoring life in animals actually killed, through injection of Herparin, a liver substance.

No Time Limit

"If my operation is perfected—and I believe within two years, with co-operation of some electrical manufacturing house—it will be ready for treatment of humans—there will be no limit to the time a person may remain 'dead'," Dr. Willard said.

"My immediate objective is to use the method to cure diseases, but there is no reason, of course, why it could not be used for other purposes—to store away prisoners, or even prevent suicide."

"If a person got sick of this life, all he would have to do is take the treatment, get himself packed in an ice-box and stay there until some future time when he might expect to find life more agreeable."

POPULAR "SILENT"
STAR TO RETURNANTONIO MORENO TO STAGE COME-BACK

After an absence of five years from the American screen, Antonio Moreno, a world-famous star in the days of silent pictures, is making a come-back in "Storm Over the Andes," Universal's story of war and aviation in South America.

Antonio Moreno was born in Madrid, but went to America in his early twenties, and joined a Massachusetts stock company, becoming a highly successful figure on the New York stage. In 1911 he made his debut under the auspices of D. W. Griffith, and subsequently took his place in the front rank of the popular leading men of his day. During his twenty-four-year career on the screen, Moreno appeared in over 200 feature pictures, short subjects, and serials.

When the talkies arrived the Spanish star was hampered by his accent, and gradually faded out of the limelight. For the past five years he has confined his attention to acting and directing only Spanish pictures in Hollywood and in Mexico City, and to perfecting his English.

In "Storm over the Andes," second most important role, starring Jack Holt, Moreno has the

Plans For Atlantic
Air LinesRIVALRY OF TWO CITIES BEGINS

ONE of Britain's most famous shipyards is to be devoted to building the biggest flying boats in the world for a regular Transatlantic service.

Messrs. Workman, Clark (1928), Ltd., the former Belfast shipbuilders who recently undertook to go out of this business, plan to build Sikorsky's.

These are the giant flying boats to be used in the California to China service later this year. This service covers a route of 8,700 miles.

The Workman, Clark plan follows negotiations with the British Aircraft Manufacturing Company, who, it was announced recently, had secured the British Empire rights for the manufacture and sale of these machines from the American owners.

Lough and River Lord Willoughby de Broke, chairman of British Aircraft Manufacturing Company, said then that an official announcement would not be made for some time. Confirmation of the deal, however, was made by Messrs. Workman, Clark.

This development means that Belfast Lough and the Mersey will once more enter into direct competition for the dominating position in the Atlantic services of the future.

Recently it was announced that the American Bollanca Aircraft Corporation are to build seaplanes at Liverpool and inaugurate a service from the Mersey to the United States via the Azores and Bermuda.

It is understood that the Belfast plan is for a regular direct passenger service across the North Atlantic between Belfast Lough and New York.

The Sikorsky flying boat was the type which recently flew "blind" half-way across the Pacific.

Divorce
Challenge
To The Church

A WOMAN, who recently divorced her husband, is to fight the Church of England, because a clergyman refused to remarry her.

She has started a legal action. The woman could have been re-married at a register office, but wanted a religious ceremony.

She holds that a clergyman of the Church of England is bound by law to remarry her. She appealed to the bishop of the diocese, who supported the clergyman's refusal.

The remarriage of divorced people has been prohibited by some bishops, but some clergymen will remarry the "innocent" party to a divorce suit.

"This case, if it comes to trial, may clear up this position," a well-known ecclesiastical lawyer said. "At present it seems that the Church forbids what the State authorises."

INN WHERE KING

A CAR PARK

The King's Head, a lovely 15th century inn in Rochester, High-street, has been saved from demolition to make way for new buildings.

It is to be largely modernised inside, but all its most picturesque features are to be retained.

Charles II, once stayed at the King's Head; Dickens wrote about it, making it the "Great Winged-bird Arms" in "Sketches by Boz," his earliest work.

There has been an inn on this spot since 1490. Behind it, now enclosed in the gardens, is the scene of the old Rochester market where the pillory and the stocks stood. This spot will now become a car park and garage.

From the outside the inn shows deplorable evidence of past attempts made to modernise it. But enter the spacious hall and you are at once transferred into an atmosphere belonging to the days of the coach and the post chaise.

BEAUTY TURNS
DOWN HOLLYWOOD GIRL WHO DOES NOT CARE FOR FILMS!

Hollywood, Sept. 1. Hollywood has been shocked—so badly that it has not yet got over it.

Miss Kathryn Batson is the culprit. Having won a beauty contest in Kentucky, she was awarded a trip to Hollywood.

Now, as all American beauty queens go to Hollywood sooner or later, Hollywood is used to them and has no great opinion of them. But Miss Batson was different.

She was so attractive that studios at once offered her screen tests, and when these proved that she had the makings of a star, they offered her a fat contract.

Then came the shock. "I won't sign," she said. "I don't think I care for films as a career. I'm going back home to Kentucky."

DEFY WAR PERIL

Liverpool, Sept. 10. A twenty-four-year-old Liverpool girl missionary will shortly be the only Englishwoman left in Abyssinia.

Regardless of all the preparations for war, and despite the instructions of the British delegation for the evacuation of women and children from the country, Miss Doris Benson is carrying on her work for the Bible Churchmen's Missionary Society at their school at Asba Tafari, in the wild Chercher Province of Abyssinia.

Miss Benson is the sister of Mrs. Benson, wife of the Rev. R. J. Benson, vicar of St. Nathaniel's, Upper Parliament-street, Liverpool.

She has been in the mission field for about twelve months, teaching the Christian faith to the Somalis, Arabs and Gallas.

As Lay DyingCABLES DIRECTOR

WHILE Sir Basil Blackett, Bank of England director, lay dying a fortnight ago in a Marburg (German Rhineland) hospital, victim of a crash between his car and a train at a level crossing, he was elected to a new City directorship by his financial colleagues at home.

Sir Basil was a director of Cable and Wireless, Ltd. On the day of his accident he was elected a director of a new subsidiary company—Cable Investment Trust Company.

Frau Eistenraeger, sixty-year-old German school teacher at Marburg, who was riding with Sir Basil at the time of the crash, was critically ill last night as the result of her injuries.

Sir Basil, who was on holiday in Germany, went out for a drive with Frau Eistenraeger. He was at the wheel.

As the main road between Giessen and Lollar, which lay on his route, was closed for repairs he took a field track running beside the railway.

Between the station of Allendorf and Treis this road crosses the railway track at a level crossing, although he saw that a train was approaching.

He misjudged the distance, and the train crashed into the back of the car, completely wrecking it.

Japanese Empress
Puts on the Girdle

Tokyo, Sept. 5. Empress Nagako, who is staying at Hayama with Emperor Hirohito, has donned the ancient girdle which, by court tradition, must be worn by the sovereign's wife when the birth of a royal child is impending.

One hundred midwives, representing the Japanese Midwives' Association, to-day prayed at Meiji Shrine that Her Majesty might have a fortunate delivery. The birth is expected in December.

Giant Liner To
IN NORMANDIE

The £12,000,000 Normandie—the world's biggest and fastest liner—is the centre of conflicting rumours.

In shipping circles it is being stated that drastic reconstruction will be necessary when the ship is laid up at Le Havre later this year.

Critics allege that owing to the immense power developed by the vessel's giant engines, there is considerable vibration, and that this has caused other defects to develop.

"It is true," an official in the London office of Compagnie Generale Transatlantique said. "She is fully booked up for her next trips across the Atlantic in both directions."

other condition of things quite as real as the former.

"I turned at once to look back and saw the gates near which they (two women) were sitting melting away, and the background of trees again becoming visible through them, as on our original visit. These pillars were old and probably had not been renewed since their original erection.

"The whole scene—sky, trees, and building—gave a little shiver, like the movement of a curtain or of scenery as at a theatre."

Unconvinced by suggestions that they had blundered into a firm in the making, that they were allowing their imaginations to distort what had actually happened, that they were making the whole thing up, these two stubborn ladies eventually proved beyond all possible doubt that on that afternoon in August they had walked out from the Salle des Glaces into the eve of the French Revolution.

NO QUESTION OF EMBEZZLEMENT

SCHOOLMASTER CASE EXPLANATION

Appearing on remand, Cheng Tik-ming, a schoolmaster, was discharged by Mr. Thompson at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court this morning. In respect of charges of alleged embezzlement of various sums of money from a co-partnership in which he and the complainant, Chan Leung-lin, 30, schoolmaster, had entered between April 1 and August 15.

Mr. M. A. da Silva appeared for the complainant, while Mr. G. S. Hughes-Jones, of Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist, appeared for the defendant.

Mr. Silva withdrew the charges against the accused on the grounds that since the laying of the charges it had been explained satisfactorily to complainant how money which she had thought unaccounted for had not been entered in the accounts.

Complainant and defendant entered into a partnership under the name of the Pak Tai School in April this year. It was agreed that during the first term before the summer holidays, defendant should have charge of the accounts.

EXPLANATION ASKED

At the end of the first term, from July up to August 6, the accounts were delivered to the complainant. Checking the accounts, complainant found two items had been paid in by pupils but had not been included, so she went to a solicitor and wrote a letter to defendant asking for an explanation. Perhaps it was unfortunate that the reply to that letter should not have given the explanation right away. "I might say," said Mr. Silva, "that my friend (Mr. Hughes-Jones) was not the solicitor who wrote that letter."

Two letters were subsequently written, dated August 16 and 17, explaining complainant's position under her right as a partner. No reply was received to these letters and on August 21, complainant found out that besides the two items there were other items of which no account had been made. Information was laid and a warrant issued for defendant's arrest. Since then the explanation had been given that that amount had been admitted as having been received and had not been put in the accounts.

THE EXPLANATION

It appeared that certain receipt books had been handed to another master in the school and certain small collections had been made by this master and receipts issued from these receipt books. These books were charged by defendant and signed by the master. These receipt books were not returned to defendant and the amounts were overlooked.

"Of course," said Mr. Silva, "this explanation may have sounded suspicious, if he did not discover other items not included, of which complainant knew nothing."

Since then it had been discovered, from parents of pupils, that these amounts had been paid to defendant in regard to another school with which he had been connected. It was pointed out by defendant that these items had been collected on a certain date when complainant and himself were at difference over accounts and there was "bad blood" between them. Certain pupils had paid in fees to the school. Defendant could not get hold of complainant as there was bad feeling between them, but he collected the accounts openly.

In view of the fact that these items had been satisfactorily explained, complainant believed that discrepancies were not deliberate.

BRITAIN WILL NOT ACT ALONE

gave decision, equally committing France, Russia and all smaller powers to like action," he says.

"The same point is made by 'Scrutator' in an article in the Sunday Times on the theory of sanctions. He writes:—

"Signor Mussolini persistently speaks and acts as though the issue at Geneva lay between England and Italy. Under the Covenant there not only is, but can be, no dispute between Italy and this or any other country as an intervening party. We would not act alone under the Covenant and could not legally do so, even if we would, for the offence which Signor Mussolini threatens is not against any intervenor but against the League.

"Neither we nor any other member of the League has any legal power to proceed to sanctions except in the execution of the League's unanimous will, and common prudence dictates that will must be unanimous, not only in word but in deed, and if necessary in common sacrifice."—British Wireless.

WIFE ACCUSES HUSBAND

PERSISTENT CRUELTY ALLEGED

Allegations that she had been the victim of an assault every month since 1924 were made by a woman in a summons for maintenance brought against Ho Yuk-man, clerk in the General Post Office, living at 5 Upper Ladder Street, first floor, before Mr. Macfadyen at the Central Magistrate's court this morning.

The complainant, Fan Mo-leung, married woman, 2, Ladder Street, ground floor, was represented by Mr. J. M. D'Almada Remedios. The summons alleged that on or before August 24 he was guilty of persistent cruelty and wilful neglect to maintain his wife and child, Fan Mo-leung, causing her to leave and live apart from the defendant.

The defendant pleaded not guilty. He stated they were married on October 24, 1920, and three years after the marriage his wife made a habit of going out to play mah jongg. He advised her not to, and then she brought allegations against him before the S.C.A.

CULMINATING POINT

Opening the case, Mr. Remedios said the parties were married in 1920 and of the marriage there were four children, two daughters and two sons. One of the sons died in 1924 at the age of five. This was the culminating point in the case.

The trouble actually started in 1924, when it is alleged the defendant committed a serious assault upon the complainant. The matter went before the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs and the defendant promised to behave himself. By arrangement the complainant went to the country for three months. On her return, things were not much better. Defendant, according to Mr. D'Almada's instructions, was a hasty tempered man. It was alleged by the woman that she was assaulted every month since 1924.

One day in 1930, the defendant returned home and stated he had taken a concubine and asked his wife to separate or obtain a divorce. He drew up a Chinese document of divorce, but she refused to sign it. From then onwards the defendant increased his violence towards her.

WOMAN OF BAD LUCK

On August 9 last, the five-years-old son took ill and with the consent of the defendant was removed to the Tuen Wah Hospital where he died on August 24. The defendant and the complainant's mother-in-law were very annoyed at this, and instead of consoling the complainant requested her to leave the home accusing her of being a woman of bad luck. The woman refused to leave. She was alleged to have been grabbed by her hair and inflicted several blows in her back.

Ugly words were waved and it was further alleged that defendant and his mother threatened to drag complainant out of the house and drown her. She became afraid and left, deciding not to return again.

Defence was then called, after which the hearing was adjourned.

TOBACCO AND SONG BOOK

THROWN OVER WALL INTO PRISON

A fine of $150, with the alternative of three months' hard labour was imposed on Lo Kau, 34, unemployed, when he pleaded guilty before Mr. Macfadyen in the Central Police Court this morning to a charge of throwing a parcel containing eight cakes of tobacco and a Chinese song book into Victoria Gaol.

Detective-Sergeant Cashman stated that at 5 a.m. yesterday, together with a Chinese detective, he waited in Chancery Lane until 5.45 when the defendant appeared and threw the parcel into the prison. Arrangements had been made previously with the Prison Department to pick up anything thrown over the wall from Chancery Lane. No name was written on the parcel, but there was a chit attached stating the amount of tobacco it contained.

Principal Warder Price stated that the cell doors were unlocked at 6.15 on Sunday mornings.

Defendant admitted six previous convictions for larceny from the person.

WOMAN PELTED WITH EGGS

ALLEGED ASSAULT ON CONSTABLE

A Wanchai man, Chi Yun-shan, was charged before Mr. W. Schofield, at the Central Magistrate's court this morning, with having assaulted Wong Kat, a Chinese detective, in Gloucester Road near the Luk Kwok Hotel, yesterday.

Detective-Sergeant Pitches said defendant and several others were throwing eggs and stones into the house of a woman, who had been complainant in a case in Court some time ago. The woman made a report at the station, and the detective was sent out with her. She pointed out the defendant as one of the men who had been throwing eggs at her. The detective asked the defendant to accompany him to the station. On the way, about six or seven of defendant's friends joined the party. The defendant started prancing in front of the detective and on one occasion struck him. Matters might have turned out more serious for the detective, had not two European soldiers come up. At the Police Station, defendant offered to make compensation to the woman. Proceedings were not taken against him with regard to that matter, and he was only charged with having assaulted the detective.

The defendant denied the charge, and the case was fixed for 11.30 a.m. on Thursday morning.

FLIGHT TO CAPE

CAMPBELL BLACK STARTS ON RECORD ATTEMPT

London, Sept. 22. T. Campbell Black, the famous aviator, accompanied by a co-pilot and wireless operator named J. H. McArthur, took off from Hatfield at 4.11 p.m. to-day to attempt a record flight to Cape Town and back. He is flying a De Havilland "Comet" "Boomerang" which has a cruising speed of 220 miles an hour and a maximum speed of 295 miles an hour. It carries 250 gallons of petrol.

Black proposes to reach his destination, a distance of 2,210 miles in three stages, Cairo, Kismu and Cape Town. He will fly directly across the Alps and hopes to reach Cairo early tomorrow morning.—Reuter.

Reaches Cairo

Cairo, Sept. 22. Campbell Black landed at Almaza Aerodrome at 3.20 a.m. Greenwich Mean Time.—Reuter.

Earlier Attempt

It will be recalled the Campbell Black set out on a record breaking flight to the Cape last month but was forced to return to England after reaching Cairo on account of engine trouble.

Solo Flight

London, Sept. 22. A Trans-Atlantic solo flight has been accomplished by the American aviator, Felix Wauk, who left Floyd-Bennett Field, Long Island at 6.45 a.m. local time, yesterday (Saturday) morning with the object of reaching Lhasa, non-stop.

After a flight of twenty-two hours, Wauk descended at Ballinrobe, Ireland, where he struck a tree and damaged the machine.

Wauk himself was unhurt.—Reuter.

A United Press message adds that it was at 10 a.m. that Wauk crashed in a field at Ballinrobe, County Mayo, the plane striking a tree owing to a very dense fog in which he was searching for the Ballinrobe aerodrome.

Lands in Ireland

New York, Sept. 21. Pilot Felix Wauk, of the U.S. Army Reserve, took off at 7.45 p.m. to-day in an attempt to make a non-stop flight to Knaus, Lithuania.

He is flying a Lockheed machine which is capable of doing 171

COMING TO COLONY

GERMAN CRUISERS TO MAKE TOUR OF WORLD

Three German cruisers, one of which is the Karlsruhe, will leave Kiel on October 21 on a tour of the world. The Karlsruhe will proceed to the Mediterranean and Indian ports, and then to Hongkong, China, Japan and the Dutch East Indies and back to the Red Sea, being due to return to Kiel in June, 1936.—Reuter Special.

miles an hour. He is carrying 700 gallons of petrol.

Pilot Wauk is taking memorials to place on the graves of the Lithuanian flyers, Darius and Gieras, who crashed flying the Atlantic some time ago.

A message from St. John's, Newfoundland, states that a plane, believed to be that flown by Wauk, flew over Belle Island at 5.15 Newfoundland daylight time.—United Press.

Balloon Fired At

Warsaw, Sept. 21. It is revealed that Russian aeroplanes fired on the Polish balloon "Polonia" one of the Bennett Race entrants, when it was over Leningrad.

An international incident was only averted when the Soviet Ambassador explained that the machines had merely fired blank cartridges, using the balloon as a target.—United Press.

Missing Fliers Found

Amsterdam, Sept. 21. The Dutch aeroplane, reported missing in India, has been found fifteen miles north of Bassina in Burma. The occupants were injured.

The plane was one of three British-built Dutch planes flying to New Guinea for survey work.—Reuter Special.

This Dutch possession, ten times the size of Holland, is largely unexplored. The area it is hoped to chart is a third of the country.

The expedition, which will be away 18 months, consists of 25 Europeans and as many natives. It is led by Capt. R. N. de Ruyter van Steveninck, an Army pilot, and is being sent by the Netherlands New Guinea Petroleum Company, owned by Dutch, British and American interests.

Earl J. Lemcke and Eugene Brinson, two American citizens arrested in Hankow on a charge of plotting to liberate Joseph Walden, alias Mr. X, who was convicted some time ago on a charge of espionage, were brought to Shanghai recently by United States Marshal, Edward L. Faupel. Brinson was released immediately upon arrival, a bond for U. S. $2,500 having been posted for him, while Lemcke was taken to the Amoy Road Gaol. From left to right are: Marshal Faupel (smiling) with Lemcke in a sun helmet, with face turned to the side from the photographer. In the picture on the right is Brinson accompanied by his mother.

THE DOUBLE TENTH

CELEBRATION IN CANTON DESPITE OPPOSITION

Canton, Sept. 22. While the demand for cancellation of the big scale celebration of the coming National Day was strongly voiced by certain Generals at a meeting of the Political Research Institute on Friday last, latest reports from official circles indicate that the demand may not be approved by the Provincial Government, though the celebration may be modified, especially regarding compulsory subscriptions by big firms.

Meanwhile it is learned that the Celebration Committee have proceeded with their preparations at full swing. So far twenty-five public bodies have offered their support to the Committee.—Wah Kin Yat Po.

On Jubilee Model

Canton, Sept. 22. Jubilee celebrations in Hongkong are being copied here for the Double-Tenth Commemoration.

The Chamber of Commerce to-day announced that there will be a long procession in which a silver and a golden dragon will take part. There will be also a dragon boat race at night on the Pearl River. The object is to draw visitors from Hongkong, Macao and

ADMIRALTY ANNOUNCES NEW SCHEME

London, Sept. 22. Sailors aboard His Majesty's warships will be able to see their favourite film stars aboard ship in the near future as the result of a new scheme announced in Admiralty Orders on Friday night.

A cinema fund will be set up for the purpose of co-ordinating distribution and supply of films and equipment to warships. The charges for the service will be on a per capita basis so that large and small ships can participate in the scheme.—Reuter Special.

An official of the Chamber pointed out that such celebrations are all the more necessary during the present trade lull, as people in the interior will come and spend money. Depression is no objection to this celebration, he added, as business inactivity is due to poor circulation of wealth and hoarding.

Sponsors of this affair declare that the national crisis has passed in view of the talk in North China of Sino-Japanese co-operation.—Special.

A happy crowd of over 200 were present at the concert given by the Wing On Mandolin Orchestra at the Grill Room of the Great Eastern Hotel at 8.30 p.m. on Saturday. The orchestra was organized by the staff of The Wing On Company and the Wing On Bank with Mr. Lambert Gockchin as chairman and leader.

The 3rd item (a) "Danza Mexicana" and "Wing On March" (dedicated to Lambert) composed by the conductor S. P. Chinn were then played. Several Chinese selections were given. WOMAN MOTORIST

FINED FOR FAILING TO RENEW HER LICENCE

A Chinese woman motorist, Mrs. K. Lee, of No. 6 Somerset Road, Kowloon-Tong, was fined $7 by Mr. Thompson at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday when she appeared before him to answer a summons for driving private car No. 3200 without a valid driver's licence, on August 28.

In answer to the summons defendant stated that on the day in question she had just returned from Canton and did not have her licence with her, but she took it to the police station the next day and showed it to the sergeant.

Traffic-Sergeant Scott, who appeared for the prosecution, explained to his Worship that defendant did take her licence to the police station, but it was found that it had not been renewed.

The Magistrate to defendant: I have had to adjourn the case twice. Can you tell me why you did not appear when you were warned?—I did not receive the summons.

The Court Sergeant explained to the Magistrate that defendant had removed from her address and the first summons was not served.

The Magistrate: It seems that you have committed another breach of the Traffic Regulations by removing without reporting your change of address to the police.

Defendant: I did not know.

The Magistrate: You are a motorist; you ought to know.

Showing his resentment at the attention paid by the complainant to his sister and other women, Lam Li-han, aged 35, earth coolie, with the aid of two other men gave another earth coolie, Fong Tim, a nasty beating with sticks at Kowloon City last Wednesday night.

The sequel to the incident was the appearance of Lam before Mr. Thompson at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday, on a charge of occasioning bodily harm to Fong. Defendant was remanded to September 25.

Inspector W. R. Chester-Woods for the prosecution stated that complainant had been paying attention to defendant's sister and other women. Defendant resented this and on the night of the 18th, he went with two other men and called complainant out and took him to a dark place where they "beat him up" with sticks. The other men have not been arrested.

The prosecution informed the Magistrate that the man was in hospital and his condition could not be ascertained until he undergoes an X-ray examination.

COAL INDUSTRY PROBLEMS

The future of the British coal-mining industry is again coming up for discussion, partly by reason of demands which are being made on behalf of the miners for a higher standard of wage. It has been stated, on behalf of the coalowners, that they cannot afford to pay better
wages, because there is insufficient money in the industry
to enable them to do so. As against this, it is contended that one remedy is to be found in reorganisation of the industry
on a unified basis. In particular, the claim is put forward
that the owners have failed
completely to organise the selling side of their industry. This failure is said to be reflected in the pit-head level of the proceeds received for coal, which show that much money has been frittered away in senseless competition between the owners themselves. Regarding the work of the miners and the wages they are paid, figures
have been issued showing that
in 1920 the average output of coal per man-shift was 14.54
cwt., whereas last year it was 22.94 cwt., but the average earnings per annum per person were £223 in 1920 and only £115 11s. 6d. in 1934. Miners
earn, on an average, according to a statement made recently in Parliament by the Secretary for Mines, 44s. 6d. per week. But there are thousands of men in the pits to-day who receive
much less than the average—
men who receive only 30s. to 40s. for a full week's work. As has been proved during recent mine disasters, the miners are exposed to sudden and overwhelming disaster every moment
of their working day. Official figures show that no fewer than 1,073 miners were killed in and about the coalfields last year,
and 132,859 injured. Actually,
the number of accidents in the coal-mining industry is six times the number occurring in industrial life in factories and workshops. In the meantime, not only is money being sacrificed in competition between the colliery owners, but by the large numbers of middle-men who stand between the miner and
the consumer. To-day, there are no fewer than 27,000 such middle-men engaged in the mining industry. As to the remedy for the present unsatisfactory position, it is argued

NOTES OF THE DAY

WITH OR WITHOUT GENEVA

The rejection by Italy of the League of Nations' proposals for settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian crisis brings us face to face with
that dangerous situation towards
which we have all looked with apprehension since the Italian Dictator, Benito Mussolini, said so definitely that the East African problem could only be solved by victory
for Italy's diplomats or by recourse
to war. Writing in Popolo d'Italia that square-jawed leader of the Fascist imperialists declared some time ago that a solution satisfactory
to Italy would be compelled "with Geneva, without Geneva or in spite of Geneva." And at this time,
when Italy has rebuffed the League
Committee of Five, has refused to accept the terms, generous terms,
offered by Geneva, we must recall with anxiety Il Duce's ringing words: "With, without or against Geneva, Italy will follow the path of destiny where her Dictator
leads. We now await the League of Nations' answer, or the reply to this challenge from those who are loyal to the principles represented
by the League Covenant." We wonder whether it will not be: "With Italy, without Italy, or in spite of Italy, we shall defend the sovereignty of the small nations, our honour and the peace of the world."

They enjoyed that walk through the stiff breeze, with its scent of
a hundred different flowers. "The woods were looking their best,"
Miss Moberly wrote afterwards,
"and we both felt particularly vigorous."

But their enjoyment was not to
last long.
Nearing the Petit Trianon they went down a lane which they thought was the entrance. "I was surprised that Miss Jourdain did
not ask the way from a woman who was shaking a white cloth out of the window of a building at the corner of the lane," wrote Miss Moberly, "but followed, supposing that she knew where she was going to."

WAITING FOR THE VOICE

Up to this time there has been no rallying cry sounded from the League's capital. There has been no clarion-throated call from a leader brave enough, wise enough
and strong enough to muster the forces of peace in such imposing array that any nation, or group of nations, would draw back from contemplated violence as from horrible
and certain death. There can be no doubt that the great mass of mankind fears and hates war; though
the average man may become intoxicated with splendid visions of victory, glory and the thrill of request. It is such inspired thoughts
as these which foster nationalism,
and national ambitions, and endanger the peace of the world.

Unfortunately we have not progressed beyond that "national"
state of mind which still insists upon frontiers and tariffs, and there is little likelihood of anyone appearing who could weld national loyalties and international hatreds
into one tempered whole which would outlast the symbols of militant minorities and outlive the lusts of man. We are therefore cast back upon the device by which we have preserved our freedom and
an empire: loyalty to and love of the Crown, and the high principles
and traditions which it represents.
We may expect a rallying call from
that quarter; and if there comes a time when the Empire's strength
is needed, we shall welcome that
call and respond with a clear hope
that in serving our own flag we serve all humanity.

POWER FOR GOOD

We believe that the British Empire is a power for good, and
that our race, once mightiest in war, is the foremost champion of peace to-day. We believe that the commonwealth of nations owning allegiance to His Majesty is an example of what can be done by able-minded men in bringing nations, and races, into harmonious partnership. We believe that the British Empire has a splendid purpose to fulfil, and that the greatest day of its destiny may be at hand.
And we remember Sir William
Watson's lines:

"She stands, a thousand-
wintered tree,
By countless morns imperiled:
Her broad roots coil beneath
the sea,
Her branches sweep the world:
Her seeds, by careless winds
conveyed,
Clothe the remotest strand
With forests from her scatter-ings made,
New nations fostered in her
shade,
And linking land with land.
"O ye by wandering tempest
sown,
Neath every alien star,
Forget not whence the breath
was blown
That wafted you afar.
For you are still her ancient seed
On younger soil let fall—
Children of Britain's island
breed,
On whom the Mother in her need Perchance may one day call."

that if the owners are required
by Government to pay higher wages, they will be induced to reorganise the industry to the benefit of all concerned in it.
Better wages are considered to be the key to efficiency and to happiness in the coalfields.

TWO WHO WALKED IN THE PAST

BY TANCY LEAN

A BREEZE came in through the windows of the Salle des Glaces at Versailles and played round the two English maiden ladies who sat there on the afternoon of August 10, 1901.

They were a little hot, a little weary in their thick Victorian clothes. Slightest feeling is no mere frivolity even for the Principal of St. Hugh's College, Oxford, and
the Head of a respected girls'
school. So for a little while Miss Moberly and Miss Jourdain sat on
there by the windows, letting the breeze dance lightly round them.

But Baedeker lay open in front
of them, and for the earnest traveller they must have thought,
Baedeker exists to be used.

So after a glance at the map
they set off for the Petit Trianon,
a farmhouse in the ground of Versailles where Marie Antoinette had amused herself before the Revolution.

They enjoyed that walk through the stiff breeze, with its scent of
a hundred different flowers. "The woods were looking their best,"
Miss Moberly wrote afterwards,
"and we both felt particularly vigorous."

But now they felt as though a mysterious change had come over everything. The breeze, they realised, had suddenly given way to
a dead calm—"even the trees
behind the building seemed to have become flat and lifeless, like a wood
worked in tapestry." They walked
on together through the intense silence, each wishing to hide from the other her own feeling of gloom.

Then, with an unaccountable
shiver of disgust, they saw that a chained man sitting by a clock was staring at them. He wore eighteenth-century clothes and his face was pitted as though with smallpox. Miss Moberly said quickly: "Which is our way?"
but thought: "Nothing will induce me to go to the left."

They were both relieved, though
a little astonished, when a red-
faced gentleman in a large sombrero hat ran up to them from nowhere shouting that they must go to the right. "Meadames, Mesdames, il ne faut pas passer par
la Par ici, c'est par là."
He vanished as quickly as he had come, and they continued on their path.

"Silently we passed over the small rustic bridge which crossed
a tiny ravine. So close to us when on the bridge that we could have reached it with our right
hands, a thread-like cascade fell
from a height down a green pretty bank, where ferns grew between stones."

They discovered afterwards
that no water could have flowed

there for about a hundred years,
but they did not know that as
they walked on towards the farmhouse. Nor, when they came to a terrace in front of the house,
did Miss Moberly realise that her friend was unable to see a lady
sitting there. "I remember drawing my skirt away with a feeling
as though someone were near and I had to make room, and then wondering why I did it," wrote Miss Jourdain.

But Miss Moberly could see
quite distinctly a woman, whom she afterwards discovered to bear
a remarkable resemblance to Marie Antoinette, "holding out a paper as though to look at it at arm's length. I supposed her to be sketching and to have brought her own camp-stool."

"She saw us, and when we passed
close by on her left hand, she turned and looked full at us. It was not a young face, and (though rather pretty) it did not attract
me. . . . I looked straight at her;
but some indescribable feeling
made me turn away, annoyed at
her being there."

More depressed than ever, they walked up a flight of steps to the terrace. Then the door of a chapel was swung open and a
youth "with the jaunty manner of
a footman" called out that they should have gone round another way. The door slammed behind him, and seeing them hesitate uncertainly he went along with them grinning as though they looked eccentric in the extreme.

That door, it has been proved,
has been impossible to open since 1789, and for 50 years at least the staircase leading to it has been completely broken down.

Outside they were suddenly in
the breeze again. It seemed to clear their heads, blowing off the veils of depression which had fallen so thickly on them.

But as they sipped their cups
of English tea in the Hotel des Reservoirs back at Versailles,
they did not talk much. It had occurred to neither of them as yet that they had just crossed
a non-existent bridge above an equally non-existent stream, that
been in their graves a hundred years, and had been examined
from the terrace by the cold eyes
of Marie Antoinette.

There months later when they were staying together in England
Miss Moberly happened to make
some remark about that lady who
had seemed to be sketching, and
to her amazement her friend denied that she had seen her at all.
After writing down independent statements of what they had seen
and left, they discovered that,
while there were gaps in the experience of one, which were covered by the other's, the main events
of the afternoon had been seen
and heard by both of them.

Not long afterwards Miss Jour-
dain returned to the Petit Trianon
and found that it was a totally different place, with different people dressed in different clothes.

She relates this incident in which we seem to see the very process by which a hundred years,
separating two worlds, were fused
into a moment.

"As I passed the logement, suddenly and utterly unexpectedly I knew that some indefinable change
had taken place. I felt as though
I were being taken up into an-

You wouldn't be so high!

Sing with hearts a-boil,
Dollars you had need of,
Fruits of steady toil;
Brightly shining dollars—

Circling in the sky—
Silly, reckless black birds,

Flying in a storm's face,

Dare to be a Daniel,
Raise the howl of rage—
Living on an income
That we never see—

ARMED ROBBER CHASED

ESCAPE AFTER SHOOTING

CONSTABLE WOUNDED

A Chinese constable, P. C. C. 108, was wounded in the left forearm when he gave chase to an armed robber who held up Mrs. A. H. Hamel, residing at No. 39 Morrison Hill Road, ground floor, outside the door of her house at about 11.45 last night. The robber escaped.

The hold-up took place just as Mrs. Hamel was about to enter the door of her house, the robber coming up from behind and pointing a revolver at her. She dropped her handbag, which contained $25 in money, and toilet articles, and the robber picked it up and ran in the direction of Canal Road East and Sharp Street.

Mrs. Hamel raised the alarm, and two Chinese from a nearby garage gave chase. The robber turned round and fired two shots at his pursuers, both of which missed their mark. The shots entered No. 10 Morrison Hill Road. The two expended bullets were later recovered.

The two men continued the chase of the robber who ran through Canal Road and across Hennessy Road into a scavenging lane at the back of a house in Jaffe Road. Here the constable took up the chase, and the robber ran along a scavenging lane by the Wanchai Police Station, but was brought up when he came to a blank wall. Turning round he fired two shots at the constable, one of which struck him on the left forearm.

PLUCKY CHASE

The robber then retraced his steps, and ran past the constable, entering the stairway of No. 238 Jaffe Road. The constable, although injured, pluckily continued the chase, but lost sight of the robber on the roof of No. 238. Five empty cartridge cases and one live round were found on the stairway of No. 238, which indicated that the man had apparently reloaded his weapon. The money, comprising two $10 notes and a $5 note, was not recovered.

The constable was admitted to the Government Civil Hospital, but his wound is not a serious one.

ANOTHER CASE

Another robbery with violence has been reported to the police by Lau Muk, aged 40, a hawker, residing at an unnumbered hut in Taiipo Old Market.

The man stated that he was walking from Fanling to Taiipo about 9 o'clock last night, following two other pedestrians, when they were held up by six men near Wai Tai village. The robbers pointed them off the road into the bushes. They were then tied to trees, and searched by the robbers. Altogether about $30 in money was taken from him.

Two of the robbers kept guard over the three men for two hours, and then left in an unknown direction. The victims managed to free themselves about two hours later, and Lau Muk then made a report to the police.

C.S.O. MESSENGER CHARGED

ALLEGED ASSAULT ON WAITRESS

Kwong Kai, aged 20, messenger No. 9 in the Colonial Secretariat's Office, appeared before Mr. Macfadyen in the Central Magistracy this morning, charged with assaulting Li Yuk-king, waitress of the Po Chuen Teahouse, Connaught Road Central.

Defendant denied the charge. He stated that he was talking with Li when two Indians in plain clothes arrested him and handed him over to a sergeant.

Acting Sub-Inspector S. G. Smith stated that a few days ago another waitress was dismissed. Last night the defendant and four others accused her of having caused the dismissal and they set upon her. Cries of "Save life!" were raised. Sergeant Hill came on the scene and saw the defendant strike the girl on the back of the head, causing her to fall down.

In evidence, the complainant stated that defendant and others tried to get her to join a "Trind Society."

On hearing this, the Magistrate remarked that it was a case to be investigated further and remanded the defendant until to-morrow in police custody.

NO AGGRESSION INTENDED

BRITAIN EXPLAINS NAVAL MOVES

ASSURANCE RETURNED FROM ITALY

London, Sept. 22.

An official statement issued by the Foreign Office to-day states that Sir Eric Drummond, the British Ambassador to Italy, called upon the Italian Under-Secretary of Foreign Affairs, Signor Pulvino Savich on September 20, in order to communicate to him movements of the British Fleet and the plans for reinforcements, by men and material, of the garrisons flying the British flag in the Mediterranean.

The British spokesman explained that these movements were not intended to imply any aggressive intention on the part of Great Britain but were made as a natural consequence of the impression created by the violence of the Italian press campaign against Great Britain.

Signor Savich said he was authorised to declare that the Italian military preparations in the Mediterranean basin were purely precautionary and had no aggressive aims.

It is understood that Sir Eric's communication to the Italian Government was not prompted by any special protest from Rome, but that the Government acted on its own initiative.

It is also learned that Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the Prime Minister, who returned to Downing Street from Chequers this evening, will have consultations with his principal colleagues in the Cabinet to-morrow and that there will be a full meeting of the Ministry on Tuesday.—Reuter.

CUTTING DETROIT'S MARGIN

YANKEE CHALLENGE FOR PENNANT

CHICAGO NEAR VICTORY

New York, Sept. 22. The New York Yankees are still decreasing the margin of difference between them and Detroit in the American Baseball League. To-day the Yankees took both games of a double header from the Boston Red Sox while the Tigers were blanked out by the Browns and beaten by the only run scored.

The league schedules are quickly drawn to a close but the Yankees have still plenty of time to win the pennant. Of late the Tigers have suffered a collapse and have been losing consistently. All three leading teams in the National League won their fixtures, thus leaving the Chicago Cubs with a slightly better chance of winning, as every victory takes them nearer to their goal.

OVERWHELMING MARGIN OF VICTORY IN INTERPORT

LAU PO-HEI

HONGKONG SWIMMERS SURPRISE

COLONY DRIVER SHOWS FINE FORM TO WIN FROM NORTHERNERS

DISAGREEMENT OVER DECISION IN THE FIFTY YARDS DASH

(By "Sagax")

To Lau Po-hei, the Colony Back Stroke expert and one of the many breakers of Interport swimming records, fell the distinction on Saturday night, of having won for Hongkong the aquatic contest at the V.R.C. against the Shanghai natatory experts who lost the annual Interport to the Colony by a margin of 57 points to 30.

However, it was Chan Chan-hing's surprise win against the Shanghai crack sprinters that enabled Lau Po-hei to claim the distinction of scoring the winning points by finishing first in the back stroke event. Hongkong had previously won the 880 yards through W. Lawrence while the Colony representatives surprised even the most optimistic supporter by subsequently winning the high diving and claiming an aggregate of 57 points out of a total of 87.

Every individual record fell to the Interport swimmers, six being broken by Hongkong representatives and one to Shanghai's captain, Noel Hammond. Incidentally several of the swimmers who were placed second also covered the respective distances within the old record times.

There seemed considerably disagreement among the judges in the 50 yards free style for so close was the race that it was extremely difficult for the officials to decide on the winner and I think a dead heat would not have been an unfair decision. It was several minutes after the race was concluded that the Hon. Secretary announced that the verdict was awarded to Chan Chan-hing of Hongkong, and the fact that no time was announced for the second man, W. Ward, of Shanghai, seems to indicate there was actually no difference in the times as clocked but that Chan Chan-hing had won by a split fifth of a second.

Expectations were realised in the half mile event in which Lawrence had an easy task in claiming first place from L. Roza-Pereira, his team mate, who beat Sie Bok-kien into third place.

G. J. Grille, the Shanghai half mile champion, constantly fouled the ropes and one occasion actually had to stop to release himself. After three quarters of the distance had been covered, he gracefully retired from the race. He was, however, an apparently beaten man even before he started fouling the lane markings.

In returning 11 mins. 50 secs. for the race—Lawrence broke the Interport record of 11 mins. 59.3/5 secs. returned by Ohlwein, of Tientsin, in 1932 but he was outside his own and the Colony record of 11 mins. 47.4/5 secs. Even Roza-Pereira broke the old record for the distance, being within a second of Ohlwein's time.

COLONY CLINCHES ISSUE

After the half mile race Hongkong led by 39 points to 25 and required only five to secure the honours. Interport with three events, (the 100 yards back stroke, diving and water polo) to go.

Lau Po-hei, who was included in the Colony side as second string to Lawrence consequent upon the latter's fifth of a second victory in the Championships, made certain of the Interport honours by finishing first in the back stroke event in 59 seconds, lead, this being both a Colony and Interport record. Lawrence was feeling the strain of his half mile swim but he nevertheless beat Hammond for second place.

Saturday was the first time within recent years that Shanghai lost the high diving and in winning against two experts like W. M. Humber and G. J. Grille, the Colony Champion, E. de Roza, brought off one of the best feats of his career.

It was confidently expected that Humber would take chief honours and that Grille would just about beat Roza but the two Shanghai divers were off form and left Roza a deserving winner. On Saturday's form it is more than probable that Wong Sik-hon would also have beaten the two visitors and added further to Hongkong's margin of victory over the Shanghai team.

Hongkong won the water polo match by three goals, as forecast and was full value for the victory. Douglas Laling, who can be considered a veteran water polo player,

SPECTATORS SHOW IMPATIENCE

RECENT CRICKET MATCH

TOURISTS AT CANTERBURY

London, Aug. 29. An unusual happening occurred at Canterbury this afternoon. Owing to rain there was no chance of play starting at the usual hour in the cricket match between Kent and the South Africans, but conditions improved so quickly that it was anticipated the game would be begun directly after lunch.

Car owners only had been admitted, and when at 2.30 there was still no sign of a start many of them began to vent their displeasure by the loud sounding of their motor horns.

For a few minutes there was an infernal din, but it had the result of hastening matters. A new pitch was quickly provided, and South Africa went in to bat at 3.20.

So easy-paced was the wicket that they scored 88 for the loss of Mitchell in 86 minutes; when, to the general amusement and ill-concealed irritation, the players retired for tea.

Apart from all this, there was much to admire in the batting of the South Africans. Mitchell and Rowan found the Kent bowling no much to their liking; they scored at a great pace.

As a feature of Children's Day at the California Pacific International Exposition at San Diego recently, a match in boxing was arranged between the midweight Don Williams, also called "Dynamite," and Charlie Royal, about the title of World's Paperweight champion. At this occasion former World's heavyweight champion, Jack Dempsey, was referee.

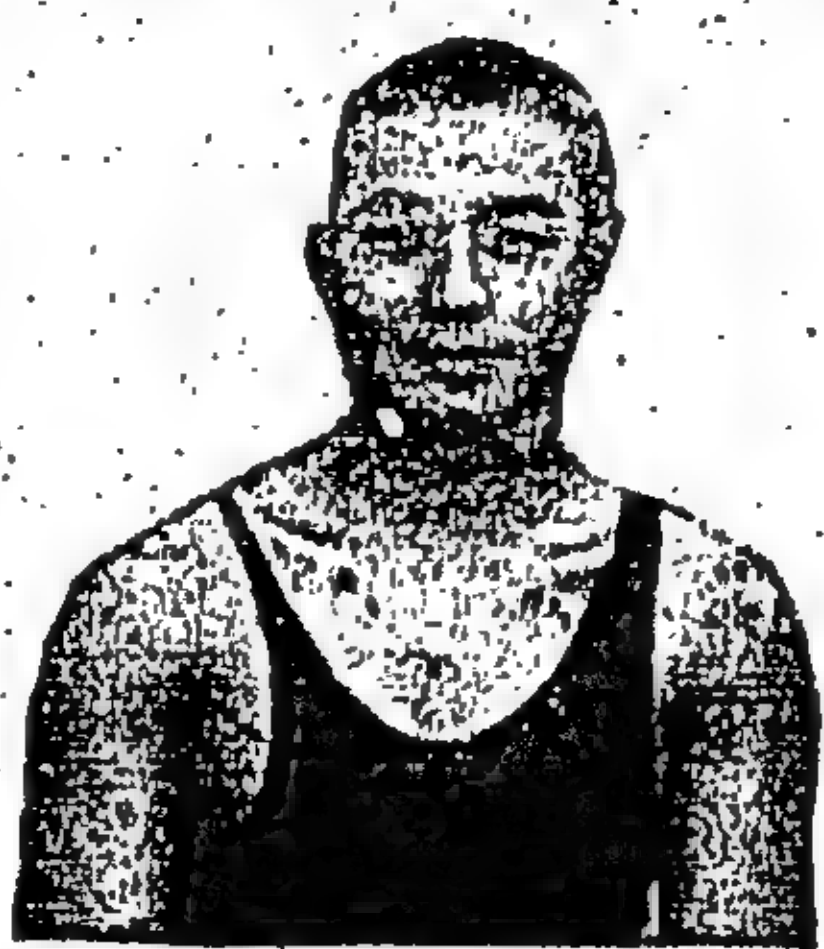

and distinguished himself by scoring two beautiful goals. Dr. Laling is a former Interporter but he has only recently returned to the Colony after his post-graduate studies in Europe and it is some years since he took an active interest in representative aquatics.

PREPARING FOR THE OLYMPIAD

IMPRESSIONS ON BERLIN WORK

Mr. Frederick W. Rubien, Secretary of the American Olympic Committee, has contributed to the Olympic Games News Service his impressions on the Berlin preparations for the Xth Olympiad. Mr. Rubien visited Berlin recently during the course of his European holiday, which he is now completing with his son in the south of England.

He writes: "My visit to Garmisch, the Stadium and the Olympic Village amazed me at the remarkable progress made in the construction of the 16 million dollar facilities required for the 1936 Olympic Games.

"The Organizing Committee has about 6 per cent. of the work completed and the 2,500 men at work will complete the structures before winter sets in. No previous Olympic Games have been presented on so grand and elaborate a scale as will be the 1936 Games. No rowing course in the world can be compared to the splendid arrangements at Garmisch, within a half hour ride from the centre of Berlin.

EASILY ACCESSIBLE

"The 325 acres Sports Ground at Berlin can be reached in 15 minutes from the centre of the city and the buildings are beautifully located. The Stadium with 100,000 seats resembles the stadium at Los Angeles where the 1932 games were held, and a similar sized track is being constructed and is in place all but the top layer. The infield is being covered with ten years old turf taken from a nearby field.

The swimming and diving stadium, seating 18,000, is an immense structure, and the assembly ground is a fine turf field. Gymnastics will be featured in a special open air theatre seating 20,000, in a bowl somewhat resembling the Hollywood Bowl.

The Institute for Physical Education founded by Dr. Lewald and Dr. Dlem ten years ago is being enlarged fourfold and with its numerous halls, gymnasiums and special rooms for various sports will be a model for structures of this kind in the future. The dormitories will be used to house the women athletes and its two trucks—one a duplicate of the Olympic track—will furnish the athletes of the world with suitable places for training.

INCOMPARABLE

"These huge grounds have special field and seating accommodations for Riding, Hockey, Basketball and Tennis, with ample road and parking spaces to handle the immense crowds.

"Los Angeles gave us an Olympic Village of temporary houses which pleased the athletes of the world, but it cannot be compared with the beautiful setting of the Berlin Village where 150 brick and stucco buildings with tiled roofs are nearing completion in a wooded grove. Each building contains ten bedrooms accommodating two athletes in each room. There are bath-houses and community rooms. A large dining-room, to be used eventually as a sanatorium, will furnish all of the dining facilities. Close by is a track to be used for training.

"The United States is making preparations to be represented in every sport on the Olympic programme and I am certain that the facilities presented will meet with great approval by our teams and that the housing facilities, the inspection of which was the object of my visit, will be found most satisfactory."

FOOTBALL TREAT

Six-A-Side Tournay Provides Thrills

LINCOLNS SIDE TRIUMPHS

(By "Sagax")

The football innovation introduced by the military authorities under the very able supervision of Capt. E. Hague, R.A., proved a very successful affair yesterday when the six-a-side competition was staged and provided some delightful soccer with which to open the recently renovated Sookunpoo Ground.

Altogether there were 28 teams entered in the competition with some clubs and regiments sending in as many as four each.

A large crowd of spectators turned out for the competition and were treated to some very clever football played under conditions rarely seen in the Colony.

Several of the teams, particularly those new to six-a-side football, found the tactics of the game different to the usual eleven-a-side matches and could not easily adapt themselves to the conditions.

The Lincolnshire Regiment "A" team which contested the final with the East Lancashire proved worthy winners and were more able to play the six-a-side game than were some of their opponents.

Their passage to the final was an adventurous one for they were required to eliminate such powerful rivals as the South China premier six, which included Tam Kong-pak, Tay Quai-ling and other leading personalities of the champion club.

The Lincoln took their courage into both hands and played a more dashing game than did their opponents who were inclined to adhere to the forward-pass tactics.

In beating the Chinese in the semi-final round the Lincoln needed every strategy known to football and it was only by the margin of a corner that they qualified for the final. Each side scored two goals but the soldiers had done so during the game and it was thus that they earned the right to challenge the East Lancashire "A" combination.

HIGGINS BRILLIANT

The principal factor behind their victory was the brilliance of Higgins goal and the sound combination of the forwards coupled with the perfect understanding which each man showed.

Higgins, the Lincolnshire Regiment centre-forward, stood in between the sticks in the competition and the saves he brought off were worthy of a first class goal keeper.

He probably enjoyed the game more than anybody else for as goal keeper he had the added advantage of being able to use his hands when necessary. He set an example of audacity by making many adventurous solo raids down the field and he was always able to get back into the goal area before any threatening attack could be initiated by the opposition.

During the semi-final match against South China when the man of the hour goal down Higgins charged 150 yards and went forward altogether leaving a comrade to take charge of the last line of defence. His strategic move proved the saving of the side for a goal was scored almost immediately afterwards and the combination was able to qualify by a corner.

The East Lancshires had a comparatively easy task in qualifying for the final as they had domestic battles practically throughout the competition. First they beat the Royal Engineers "B" team, then they eliminated in turn the Regiment's "D" side, the "B" team and then the "C" team before meeting the Lincoln "A" in the final.

MAY REMAIN IN ENGLAND

R. J. Williams Of The South African Team

London, Aug. 24.

There is a distinct possibility that when the South African cricketers sail they may leave several of their members behind, among them Williams, their reserve wicket-keeper.

Williams may be seen in the colours of a famous Rugby club of the North. He is a man of fine physique and is in the very top class of South African forwards.

It was recently reported that A. D. Nourse may also remain in England.

The Wolves ground has been fixed as the venue of the match between England and Wales on Wednesday, February 5. The amateur match England v Ireland is to take place at Middlebrough on February 15. The Amateur Trial, North v. South, will be played at Iford on January 18.

The six-a-side football competition at Sookunpoo proved a highly interesting affair over the week-end. The Lincolnshire Regiment fielded four teams and won the trophy with the "A" aggregation. Picture shows the winners with the Cup which was presented to the captain of the team by Lieut. General O. C. Borrell.

His presence, he added, whether it be on a football field or at an athletic meet or aquatic sports, is always an inspiration to all.

NO. 30: WOLVES

CENTRE-FORWARD PROBLEM

(By CHARLES BUCHAN)

Wolverhampton Wanderers have profited financially by their misfortune during the three years they have been in the First Division. I foresee more misfortune this year, though they cannot expect to go on doing well much longer through having to struggle to keep their place in the First Division.

Major Buckley, the manager, said very definitely at the annual meeting that the players he wanted were unobtainable. Unless he has something sensational up his sleeve, he will have to resort to daring gambling with his key positions.

The biggest gamble, of course, will be at centre-forward, where Hartill, a mainstay of the team, will be missed. Martin may or may not come off. Last season he failed to do so, perhaps because he was new to English football. The team can certainly play to him better than they did last year, but Martin himself must improve his shooting.

WHAT OF O'MAHONY?

Galley is the only hope as Martin's understudy. Though promising, he is far too inexperienced.

On paper there is a big problem about the other key position—centre-half. It will rest between Smalley and Morris, because Hollingsworth will almost certainly have to continue at right back. I expect to see Smalley get the place at the start of the season.

That is unless O'Mahony, a well-built Irishman who made twelve appearances for Southampton last season, turns out trumps. A number of those sporting long shots of Buckley's have surprised everyone in the past.

There will be a lot of swapping about in some of the other positions, particularly goal, inside-right, and outside-left. Wrigglesworth is the likely outside-left, and Iversen the best of the bunch at inside-right.

The directors expect not much more than the retention of their place in the League this season, but hope for great things from their many promising youngsters in the years to come.

Goalkeepers: Splers, Wenre, Uttersen.

Full-backs: Downen, Hollingsworth, Larking, Shaw, Taylor, Marsden.

Half-backs: Cullis, Coley, Morris, O'Mahony, Rhodes, Richards, Smalley, Gilson, Green, Gaudin.

Forwards: Atkins, Akers, Astill, Brown, Galky, Henson, Iversen, Johnson, Jones, Martin, Phillips, Thompson, Wrigglesworth, Flaherty, Taylor, Chadwick, Miller, MacDermott.

NO. 31—EXETER

Hope to Be Among Leaders

Big things are expected from Exeter City, a club which has been reorganised and placed on a much sounder financial basis. The directorate has been overhauled and increased from eight to fifteen members, and the share capital has more than trebled. With more money available, the City have been able to launch out on the acquisition of players of ability.

Exeter are justly optimistic that they will be found among the leaders of the Southern Section. There seems such a fine blend of youth and ripe experience in the ranks that promotion appears on the horizon.

The attack will be well-marked by the presence of two extremely clever inside forwards in Dunn, a Scottish international who rendered splendid service for Everton, and McLean, the former Blackburn Rover. Both these players are the possessors of F.A. Cup medals. In their another Third Division club able to boast of such a distinction?

Between two such shrewd schemers, Poulter should thrive on opportunities, and it is to this whole-hearted trier that supporters will look for plenty of goals. Outside-left, a position which has not been satisfactorily filled for a number of seasons, should not cause anxiety, provided that McArdle, a prolific goal-getter in Stoke City's Central League team, comes up to expectations.

CRICKET
GAMESPRESS ELEVEN BEATENINDIAN R. C. WIN
FROM TAMAR

The privilege of scoring the first century this season fell to D. Hunt, of the Hongkong University, who compiled a total of 106 runs not out, in the friendly cricket match played between the Press and the University at Pokfulam on Saturday afternoon. The latter won by 72 runs.

Hunt put up a fine performance, and knocked up no less than 20 boundaries and a five.

The Press team were playing two men short, and in the early stages of the game an unfortunate accident robbed them of another player. G.W. Giffen, who was playing behind the stumps for the Press, failed to hold a fast ball from F. D. Perera. The ball struck him on the ear and tore the lobe. He was sent to the Government Civil Hospital and had four stitches inserted.

INDIANS BEAT TAMAR

In their first friendly cricket match this season, the Indian Recreation Club defeated a team from H.M.S. Tamar by 10 runs at Happy Valley on Saturday afternoon. The Tamar eleven totalled 48 runs towards which R. Bowden contributed 10 and L. Baker 14. A. K. Ismail, A. Baker and T. Haniet captured two wickets each.

The I.R.C. total of 67 runs was largely contributed to by A. R. Kitchell who knocked up 28 runs. P. Bryne took three wickets and R. Holley two, in both cases for nine runs.

The game was too one-sided to be interesting, the Radio although they had the services of Gurbachan Singh, the Interport centre-forward, giving a poor display.

The scorers for the Punjabis were: Lail Singh (1), Mohammed Afzal (3) and Mohammed Khan (1).

SERIAL STORY

One I Love

by LAURA LCU BROOKMAN

Chapter XXXII

Rolf's tone was casual, good-natured. "Been wondering when I was going to have a chance to talk to you," he said. "Where've you been hiding yourself?" Janet said, "Oh!—you surprised me." She met his eyes and then avoided, bending to straighten the pile of magazines. He came a step nearer. "You haven't been trying to avoid me, have you?" he asked. "Why, of course not!" So quickly defensive that the words belied themselves. "I've been busy, I guess. You know I work here."

Rolf laughed. "And just now, apparently, nothing is quite so important as those magazines. But they looked very nice the way they were, I thought. Come on. Sit down. Is there any reason in the world why we shouldn't talk to each other for a few minutes?"

"No-o-o." Janet hesitated. There were reasons but she couldn't tell him what they were. The little fires burning in her cheeks. That excited sensation when her eyes met his. Oh, yes, there were reasons why Janet should turn and flee from that room but instead she sat down in a rose brocade chair.

"That's better!" He stood looking down at her, smiling. "You're very decorative in that chair. Becoming background. And that's a good-looking suit you're wearing, too. On the whole, you're looking unusually attractive!"

He was the same Rolf. Exactly the same. When he paid compliments you could never be quite sure whether he really meant them or was joking. He pulled a chair forward, sat down, and drew from his pocket a silver cigarette case.

"Have one?" he asked, flipping open the cigarette case. Janet shook her head. She saw that the case was a new one and handsome. Suddenly it became a symbol. A symbol of all the changes that had taken place between them. "Listen, Rolf," she said quickly. "I can't sit here talking to you. You know I can't. The only reason I'm in this house is because I'm paid to work here. There's one thing, though, I want to tell you. When I came here I didn't know Mrs. Curtis was your wife's mother."

She felt better now that she had got that out. It was easier to go on. "After I found out I was going away. But I needed the job and I didn't know where to find another. There aren't many jobs just now. I've been reading the want ad columns every day."

He stopped her. "But that's nonsense!" he exclaimed. "Listen, you aren't going to leave this job. Why, it's just the thing for you! Look better than working down town in an office. Mrs. Curtis thinks a lot of you, too. I've heard her telling Betty she couldn't get along without you!" His concern was genuine. The laughter was gone from his dark eyes now. "Promise me you won't do that, Janet," he urged. "You really think it's all right for me to stay?"

"Of course I do! I want you to." "I don't know exactly what I should do." "Then let me decide for you! You've made a real place for yourself here. I'll see that there's nothing to—embarrass you. You needn't worry about that. Only we can be friends, I hope. There isn't any reason why we shouldn't be, is there?" There was a flash of that quick, winning smile. Janet said, "No, Rolf." She smiled, too, and the colour deepened in her cheeks.

"Then let's start on it." Their hands met. Janet said quickly, with a voice unsteady from emotion, "I've got to go now! I—I'm late." In another moment she was hurrying up the stairs. She did not stop until the door of her own room had closed behind her. Then she sank down on the edge of the bed. She was cold and every bit of strength seemed to have ebbed from her body. She clenched her hands together tightly, shivering though her heart was pounding. "I won't see him again!" Janet resolved. "I mustn't let him know I feel the way I do!" But his eyes were smiling into hers as she said the words and the pain in her heart was so sharp that Janet instinctively raised one hand to shut out the sight. "Oh, Rolf!" she murmured, going back to the chorus of all her loneliness and unhappiness. "Oh, Rolf, why can't I forget?"

On such visits Janet almost always found young Mrs. Carlysle in a gay lounging costume leaning back in one of the low, modernistic chairs, smoking and gossiping with some of her friends. The cocktail shaker was always in evidence. There was likely to be dance music coming from the radio and often the laughter was high-pitched and boisterous.

How did they keep it up, Janet wondered, these young people whose mornings, afternoons and evenings seemed devoted to parties? Of course they did not work but to Janet the constant round of gaiety in itself seemed strenuous. How could a young man like Rolf get to the office in the morning ready for a day's work after a night of festivities that had not ended until dawn?

Surely there must be some quiet evenings, some time for rest. "They're young," Mrs. Curtis would say fondly. "There's time enough to be serious later on. I want my little girl to have everything in the world to make her happy." Mrs. Curtis herself wasn't so well these days. There was one evening when she was dressing, preparing to go to the Thorntons that Janet rushed to the telephone to call Dr. Roberts. The physician came and prescribed two days of complete rest in bed. Mrs. Curtis, frightened, promised to obey these instructions faithfully but on the second day when Betty called and insisted her mother should come to fill out a table at her bridge party Betty, as usual, had her way.

Mrs. Curtis arose and dressed and set off for the bridge party and Janet was left to her own devices. It was June and the season's first hot spell had set in. The air, both inside and out of the house, was stifling. Janet had finished her work and considered how to spend the afternoon. She felt an impulse to get away from the house. There was a movie to go. Suddenly Janet decided to see a movie. It would be cool in the dark theatre. It would be restful, too. She hurried upstairs and put on a new blue linen dress and wide-brimmed white hat. She was wearing white oxfords, and the costume was becoming.

Janet walked to the bus stop and rode down to the business district. It was hotter here but the theatre would be cooled by artificial breezes. Janet was within half a block of the theatre when a window display caught her eye. She paused to look at it and there was why she did not see the man until, turning, she almost bumped into him.

or the cook. Lucy, who admired Mrs. Carlysle greatly and considered her home equal to anything she had seen in the movies, was only too glad to go there to serve.

Betty found errands for Janet, too. She appropriated her services as casually as she took everything else that she wanted. Scarcely a day passed when Janet was not instructed by telephone to run over for a shopping list or to take care of some club obligation Betty had forgotten until the last minute.

On such visits Janet almost always found young Mrs. Carlysle in a gay lounging costume leaning back in one of the low, modernistic chairs, smoking and gossiping with some of her friends. The cocktail shaker was always in evidence. There was likely to be dance music coming from the radio and often the laughter was high-pitched and boisterous.

How did they keep it up, Janet wondered, these young people whose mornings, afternoons and evenings seemed devoted to parties? Of course they did not work but to Janet the constant round of gaiety in itself seemed strenuous. How could a young man like Rolf get to the office in the morning ready for a day's work after a night of festivities that had not ended until dawn?

Surely there must be some quiet evenings, some time for rest. "They're young," Mrs. Curtis would say fondly. "There's time enough to be serious later on. I want my little girl to have everything in the world to make her happy." Mrs. Curtis herself wasn't so well these days. There was one evening when she was dressing, preparing to go to the Thorntons that Janet rushed to the telephone to call Dr. Roberts. The physician came and prescribed two days of complete rest in bed. Mrs. Curtis, frightened, promised to obey these instructions faithfully but on the second day when Betty called and insisted her mother should come to fill out a table at her bridge party Betty, as usual, had her way.

Mrs. Curtis arose and dressed and set off for the bridge party and Janet was left to her own devices. It was June and the season's first hot spell had set in. The air, both inside and out of the house, was stifling. Janet had finished her work and considered how to spend the afternoon. She felt an impulse to get away from the house. There was a movie to go. Suddenly Janet decided to see a movie. It would be cool in the dark theatre. It would be restful, too. She hurried upstairs and put on a new blue linen dress and wide-brimmed white hat. She was wearing white oxfords, and the costume was becoming.

Janet walked to the bus stop and rode down to the business district. It was hotter here but the theatre would be cooled by artificial breezes. Janet was within half a block of the theatre when a window display caught her eye. She paused to look at it and there was why she did not see the man until, turning, she almost bumped into him.

NOTES FROM THE THEATRES

Teaching the daughter he loves to love another man is the dramatic feat accomplished by Richard Dix in his starring role in "His Greatest Gamble" RKO Radio Picture coming soon to the Queen's Theatre. In this production, Dix portrays a scapegrace but well intentioned father who seeks to guide his child to happiness, at no matter what the cost be to him. He steals the girl from the mother's custody, but their life together is terminated when an accidental killing sends him to jail for a long term. Then years pass and the daughter is rendered weak-willed and at her mother's dictation almost gives up the man she loves. At which her father breaks jail and precipitates to a pulsating climax which saves the girl's happiness although it sends him back to prison for life. Dorothy Wilson, Bruce Cabot and Edith Fellows support Dix. John Robertson directed.

"One More Spring" Heralded as a picture well off the beaten track through its half-spiritual, half-realistic treatment, "One More Spring," co-starring Janet Gaynor and Warner Baxter, comes on Tuesday to the King's Theatre. It follows Robert Nathan's best-seller romance, and deals with an oddly assorted group of people who, through the kindness of an Irish street-sweeper, dwell through the winter in a big city park's foot-shed. A bankrupt dealer in antiquities and a ruined out-of-work violinist and a ruined banker are the central characters in this offering. The interplay of their lives provides a type of entertainment that is said to be new to the screen. Director Henry King and Scenarist Edwin Burke (whose script on "Bad Girl" won the Academy award in 1932) gave the Fox Film picture an atmospheric quality similar to that of such silent classics as "Sunrise" and "Seven Years' Heaven." This objective marks a new departure by an able cast that includes Walter King, Jane Darwell, Roger Imhof, Grant Mitchell, Rosemary Ames, and the comic Stein Feltch. "One More Spring" should be an outstanding screen event.

"Werewolf of London" Universal, monster of mystery! That title is unchallenged where ever motion pictures are made the weird and baffling in human nature, for daring exploration in the dark and hidden crannies of mysterious and dangerous personalities, Universal stands alone in the movie world. This leadership in the mystery field dates back to 1931 and extends over a series of notable feature films, started with "Dracula," progressed through "Frankenstein," "The Invisible Man," and "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," and comes to full flower in "Werewolf of London." Henry Hull has the title role in this screen study of a scientist who becomes infected with lycanthropy, and turns periodically into a murderous creature half-man half wolf. Among the other featured players are Warner Oland, Valerie Hobson, Lester Matthews, Spring Byington and Clark Williams. Mystery was a dead letter in Hollywood in 1931 when Universal decided that the talking screen offered unlimited possibilities for exciting pictures of that kind. All other commodities avoided the film of unvarying thrills as the most successful kind of dynamite at the box-office.

"Cleopatra"

Cecil B. DeMille, motion picture director, and master of the spectacle, has turned to the pages of history for his newest Paramount film which is entitled "Cleopatra," and which made its debut at the Star Theatre last night. With Claudette Colbert, Warren William and Henry Wilcox playing the principal parts, "Cleopatra" brings to the screen all the talent of this pioneer director, who has come up from the beginning of motion pictures, more than twenty years ago, with each new film topping his previous one. That his métier is the kind of film making shown here is beyond all doubts. In every lavish, glittering, fascinating sequence, the genius of DeMille speaks out in bold, clear strokes. "Cleopatra" is indeed the finest thing he has done. The supporting cast is complete with many of Hollywood's best players. Among those whom you will see are Ian Keith, Joseph Schildkraut, C. Aubrey Smith, Gertrude Michael, Irving Pichel, William Farnum, Bryant Washburn, Robert Warwick, Edwin Maxwell and Harry Beresford directed.

"Goin' to Town"

Not one, but seven leading men support Mae West in her new Paramount film, "Goin' to Town," now at the King's Theatre. The players, Paul Cavanagh, Ivan Lebedeff, Tito Coral, Fred Kohler, Sr. Monroe Owsley, Grant Withers and Gilbert Emery, all play important parts, essential to the story. "Goin' to Town" is the picture in which Mae West goes mad. No longer swathed in the "Gay Nineties" Mae West becomes an up-to-date girl with ultra-modern ideas in modern surroundings. The opening scenes of "Goin' to Town" are laid in the Middle West where Mae West acquires a lot of money by the process of getting rid of her wealthy husband. Then she really starts going places. Following a handsome, young Englishman, Paul Cavanagh, on whom she has eyes, Mae West goes to Buenos Aires for the races. Here she meets and marries Monroe Owsley, a broken-down member of select Southampton society, because she wants to meet the bluebloods. With a useless husband, and hordes of admirers and fortune hunters, she has quite a time of it until Cavanagh turns up to tell her that he has loved her all the time. The picture, which was directed by Alexander Hall, provides Miss West with several singing opportunities.

LESSON SERMON

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONGKONG

"Matter" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, yesterday.
The Golden text was "How ye the trumpet in Zion, and sound an alarm in my holy mountain: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord cometh, for it is nigh at hand." (Isaiah 2:1).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson Sermon was the following from the Bible: "While he yet spake, there cometh one from the ruler of the synagogue's house, saying to him, Thy daughter is dead; trouble not the Master. And he put them all out, and took her by the hand, and called, saying, Maid, arise. And her spirit came again, and she arose straightway: and he commanded to give her meat." (Luke 8:49, 54, 55).

The Lesson Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Principle and proof of Christianity are 'discarded by spiritual sense. They are set forth in Jesus' demonstrations, which show-by his healing the sick, casting out devils, and destroying death, 'the last enemy that shall be destroyed,'—his disregard of matter and its so-called laws." (p. 210).

MANILA-NAIROBI FLIGHT

AIR ADVENTURE DELAYED

(Special to "Telegraph")

Manila, Sept. 23. Mechanical difficulties have led Mr. Philip Whitmarsh to call off his projected flight from Manila to Nairobi, at least temporarily. The take-off was to have been made September 15.

It was disclosed that a reconditioned motor in the Lockheed Vega plane, purchased for the flight, was unsatisfactory.

Pilot Dick Rinaldi, who came from the United States to fly Mr. and Mrs. Whitmarsh to Nairobi, Kenya Colony, tested the craft shortly after it had been assembled. He was obliged to make a forced landing in Pampanaga Province, however, while on a short 200-mile test flight between Manila and Baguio.

Returning to Manila, Rinaldi expressed conviction that the motor would not prove satisfactory.

As a result Whitmarsh, and Rinaldi plan to leave shortly for the United States where they will make contact with manufacturers to secure a new type of motor.

The radioman, Ben Stone, of Brooklyn, who originally planned to be a member of the expedition, left for East Africa on the s.s. Postdam. He planned to offer his services to Emperor Haile Selassie as a communications expert.—United Press.

CANTON'S BANKING POSITION

Canton, Sept. 22. Since co-operation between the Provincial Bank of Kwangtung and Canton Municipal Bank has been effected, the financial condition of the city has become more stable, it was learned to-day.

According to a spokesman of the Municipal Bank notes of these two banks are now accepted everywhere in the city without being subject to discount. As a result of co-operation, the public is regaining confidence in these banks, and depositors have recently increased by hundreds.

The financial condition of these banks, according to the same official, is far better than before.—Union News.

He encountered very bad weather over the Atlantic and says that, but for Free State radio instructions hourly from Athlone, he could not have held his course.—British Wireless.

GUNNER ADMITS CAR THEFT

RAMBLING STORY IN COURT

USED OFFICER'S NAME

A candid confession of stealing a car was made in the course of a rambling statement made by a gunner of the Royal Artillery when he appeared before the Kowloon Magistrate, Mr. W. M. Thomson, this morning. He was remanded for 48 hours in prison custody and a medical report was requested.

The accused, Clive Grandage, 22, of Liverpool, a gunner of No. 9 Battery of the Royal Artillery, stationed at Lyceum Barracks, was charged with (a) failing to pay the legal carriage of private car No. 1321 on the vehicular ferry, Man Kung, from Hongkong to Kowloon on Sunday; (b) driving the car without a licence; (c) driving the car without the owner's permission; (d) failing to keep to the left when driving round the corner of Peking Road and Nathan Road; and (e) failing to keep to the left at Salisbury Road near the Star Ferry.

Traffic-Inspector A. Nicol, in outlining the case, stated that accused drove the car, on to the vehicular ferry at 8.06 a.m. on Sunday. As the ferry was just leaving, he was allowed to drive on to the vessel. When the fares were being collected, accused said he had no money. On his arrival at the Jordan Road wharf, through some misunderstanding the regulator there did not stop him.

Later in the day, accused was seen by Indian constable 1895 driving on the wrong side of the road at Peking Road and Nathan Road. At 1.45 p.m. accused was seen driving on the wrong side of the road near the Star Ferry by Chinese constable D266.

ENGLISH LICENCE

Accused stated that he had an English licence, but it was pointed out to him that although Hongkong was a British Colony, he was not allowed to drive a car with an English licence, just as he would not be allowed to drive in England with a Hongkong licence.

Receiving permission to make a statement, defendant said: "I admit I did steal the car. I was under the influence of drink—I was drunk when you are like that you are apt to do anything."

"Here was I in the middle of the street. I wanted to get into bed. I saw this car and I jumped in and a policeman came along. I jiggered about with the ignition switch but could not find the key. The policeman helped me to start and I gave him a lift to the police station."

Asked whether he could recognise the policeman again, accused looked round and replied that he could not.

"I drove around a bit," said accused continuing his statement, "then came across to Kowloon." "They (the police) had me at the police station and grilled me for half an hour. They let me go in the end because they told me they were satisfied that I had done no wrong."

"DECENT FELLOW"

"After I went over to Kowloon. I had no money to pay my fare—the regulator said I could go and come and pay him on Friday when I got the money. He was a decent fellow."

The Magistrate: He must have been!

Continuing, accused said: "I went to the Y.M.C.A. and unfortunately, as you know, I had no money."

The Magistrate: I don't know. I know nothing at all about the case.

Accused: But I told you I had no money to pay my fare!

"On Saturday evening," continued accused, "I went to the Hongkong Hotel and met a fellow officer of the R.A. who was very rude to me. I offered him a drink and he refused it."

"The manager asked me to play the piano in the band for the people to dance. He was very pleased and he gave me $10. On top of this $10 I forgot to mention I had $40. The manager gave me a whiskey-soda too!"

"I took my coat off—it was very warm—and the money was stolen and I wish you to make enquiries."

SIGNED AS OFFICER

"I had breakfast at the Y.M.C.A. and (laughing) I signed my name as Lieutenant Humphreys and gave my address as 'Peak Hotel, Kowloon'. I had a wash and took the car to the nearest garage—it's Duro's, isn't it?—and I offered to sell it to a man there."

The Magistrate: Do you think you ought to continue to make such statements?

Accused: They are quite true. You would not want me to come here and tell a pack of lies?

The Magistrate: No, all I want you to do is to tell the truth. "This fellow," continued accused, "offered to give me a motor report be obtained."

IMMENSE MARKETS IN CHINA

AMERICA IMPROVES HER TRADE

BRITAIN AND JAPAN LOSE

(Special to "Telegraph")

Washington, Sept. 22. The Department of Commerce to-day released the result of a study, which asserts that the United States during the past four years has surpassed all nations in China trade developed. It is emphasised that in 1934 the United States supplied the Chinese with a total of 26.16 per cent. of all imports, compared with Japan's 12.21 and Britain's 12 per cent.

Moreover, America purchased 17.6 per cent. of China's exports compared with Japan's 15.16, Britain's 8.3 and Hongkong's 18.85 per cent.

American sales to China exceeded the British and Japanese combined business, while her purchases far exceeded Japan's and nearly doubled Britain's. It is made clear that the purchases by Hongkong are intended for trans-shipment to all parts of the world.

SIGNIFICANT DROP

"Undoubtedly the drop in Japan's position relative to the United States since 1931 is the result of Manchuria's disappearance from China's returns far more than any other cause, yet sufficient significance remains in the figures to form a substantial answer to the statement not infrequently heard: 'The United States is losing its China trade to competitors.'"

The report declares that the progress made by the vast population of China since the revolution of 1911 and China's potentialities as a market for foreign produce "are attracting more interest than ever."

It is explained that the Department's study is aimed to present facts and suggestions for measuring China as a future market. It is said, however, that in view of the illiteracy, poverty, diverse dialects and lack of communications large scale sales in China might succeed only in the distant future.—United Press.

SILVER PRICE

Washington, Sept. 22. The Department of Commerce believes that "the high and uncertain silver exchange" is one explanation of the recent decline in China's trade, but avers that numerous other factors contributed.

The drop in trade in both directions and with all countries "serve to emphasise the fact that as a result of a number of factors China in 1934 dropped lower than ever in the world depression trough, while other nations were climbing out."—United Press.

LEITH-ROSS BUSY

Nanking, Sept. 23. Sir Frederick Leith-Ross and Sir Alexander Cadogan arrived here to-day, the former to stay at the country residence of Dr. H. H. Kung, the Finance Minister, upon whom he called at 11 a.m. He will see Mr. Wang Ching-wei at 4 o'clock and leaves for Shanghai to-morrow.—Reuter.

bike and $20 for the car. I thought it was very good, but the fellow did not have the money with him at the time.

"I left the garage and went along the street and the car kept stalling on me. I wish you to bear in mind that I had a few drinks on the night before."

"I only had 10 cents, but I went to a place called the Marcel Cafe and I saw a friend of mine and he asked me what I wanted and I replied, 'a double whisky'. I also offered to sell him the car and he told me to take it to the Shamshul-po barracks."

Regarding the fifth and last charge, accused explained that there were two roads near the Star Ferry—one for pedestrians and the other for traffic. Accused alleged that two buses were blocking his way on the road, so he went round the wrong side where the pedestrians went and found that he could not get out again. In attempting to do so, he scraped the left front mudguard against a post.

"A constable then came along," said accused, "and said he was going to arrest me for causing a disturbance and driving on the wrong side of the road. Whilst he was humming and hawing I accelerated and left him standing there. Then I went to the Y.M.C.A. and had lunch."

This concluded accused's statement and the Magistrate remanded him for 48 hours in prison custody and requested that a medical report be obtained.
